Conservative Drive To Unseat
Gov't On Steel Program Under Way

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill, leading a Conservative drive to unseat the Labor Government, today blasted the Labor program to nationalize steel as a "crazy deed" which would gravely harm the country's rearmament.

BARBARA ANN SCOTT
... privacy invaded.

Skater's Mother Bars Intruder After Scuffle

TORONTO (CP)—A tall, shabbily-dressed man who said he was "madly in love" with Barbara Ann Scott tried to force his way into the figure skater's apartment here last night.

Joseph Macnease, 32, of Quebec, was charged with trespassing, forcible entry and threatening. In Magistrate's Court today, he was remanded a week for mental examination.

Other tenants in the building on Toronto's northern outskirts subdued Macnease as he tried to fight his way into the apartment shared by Barbara Ann and her mother after ringing all the doorbells in the building and screaming that he must see Barbara Ann. He was held until police arrived.

Finlay M. MacPherson who lives in the apartment above the Scotts, went to the door of the building when his buzzer was pressed.

He said Macnease tried to force his way past. When MacPherson tried to stop the man he was grabbed by the throat and bitten on the arm. Macnease then rushed by him and reached the door of the Scott apartment just as Mrs. Scott opened it.

POLICE ARRIVE

He managed to get his foot inside the door and remained that way while Mr. MacPherson and other tenants arrived and grabbed him. They held him until police arrived.

North York police said a man had been bothering Barbara Ann for some time. He had been calling her regularly on the telephone, asking her to go out with him and even threatening to come and get her.

HAD CALLED BEFORE

Mrs. Scott said "last night wasn't the first time Macnease had called the apartment. When the skater and her mother first moved here from Ottawa the man appeared one day and asked to see Barbara Ann, she said.

"I told him she wasn't in and he said he'd wait. Then I told him she was out of town and he began to use terrible language and didn't want to leave. But he finally did.

"Tonight when he tried to get in he said, 'If you give me my money I'll go.'

After questioning Macnease, they said he had told them he was "madly in love" with Barbara Ann. He said he had clipped every picture of her he had ever seen and that they had "been driving me crazy."

All Barbara Ann would say about the matter was that "we had a rather unpleasant visitor."

The Conservative leader said in the House of Commons he will war on the Labor government until his party forces its downfall and new elections.

The Iron and Steel Nationalization Act, scheduled to take effect Feb. 15, "will be a deep and major injury to the whole process of rearmament," Churchill said.

"I see no alternative but that this is a manoeuvre for party purposes of a complex but none the less obvious character."

The Laborites tried vainly to shelve a motion of no-confidence with which the Conservatives hoped to topple the government. With influenza talking both sides of the House of Commons, Prime Minister Attlee's government faced its most dangerous test.

Defeat of the government on the steel issue would not necessarily force a general election. Rather than resign or ask for a dissolution of Parliament, Prime Minister Attlee probably would table a motion of confidence a few days later. This would require a new division.

Churchill said the controversy over the steel decision "can only be ended by a general election, for which we shall continue to strive without a day's cessation." He called the decision to go ahead "a major stumbling block to national unity and to national safety."

American infantrymen drove Reds from a hill three miles west of Anyang. Forty Reds were bayoneted and another 50 shot in the back as they fled.

Acheson Hits Red Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson today accused the Iron Curtain countries—Russia's satellites—of building up great armies in excess of peace-treaty limitations. He said this is one of the major causes of world tension.

Acheson told a press conference it is the weight of these armies, plus the enormous military power of the Soviet Union itself, which is the prime source of tension and worry in the world today.

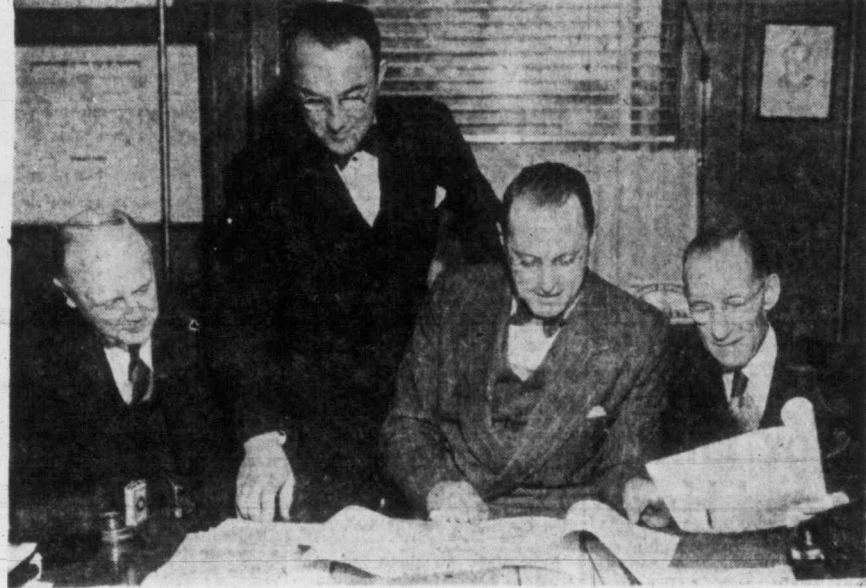

He agreed when a reporter suggested that the military build-up by Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary in excess of the Second World War peace treaty limits might well be considered at the proposed meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Next Amalgamation Bid Up To Municipalities

Review Of Victoria's Assets
Shatters 'Debt-Ridden' Area Myth

The appeal for "amalgamation" will never again emanate from Victoria if Ald. Waldo Skillings has his way.

One of the most comprehensive and sweeping statements of the city's capital asset valuations ever compiled was presented by G. Fitzpatrick Dunn, chartered accountant, at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Amalgamation Research Committee today.

Five Reported Dead In Blast Near Montreal

SAINT PAUL L'ERMITE (BUP)—Five persons are reported killed in an explosion which rocked the Canadian Arsenal munitions plant at Saint Paul L'Ermitte today.

The victims were killed when a large calibre shell exploded while being loaded at the plant, 18 miles east of Montreal.

An arsenal spokesman says the explosion occurred in a small operating building.

It revealed that the city's surplus assets are $11,054,057 over and above the net debenture debt of $12,854,000. At Dec. 31, 1949, capital assets totaled $23,908,057.

Far from being a "debt-ridden" area sinking in a morass of financial problems—the picture painted mostly in red ink by some municipalities when the word amalgamation was mentioned—Victoria was revealed in "a most enviable position," Ald Skillings said.

The research committee agreed with him and will recommend to City Council Tuesday that it take no further steps toward amalgamation, unless initiated by the other municipalities.

Mayor Percy George said he felt the estimate of the city's assets was most conservative and it could have been placed at $30,000,000, but agreed with Ald Skillings that the committee "wanted a factual report on the conservative side."

"We incurred our debt when the dollar was really worth a dollar," said Ald Skillings.

Bearing out his comment was the accountant's statement on storm drains, sanitary sewers, roads, sewer and storm drain connections, sidewalks, boulevards, waterworks, bridges and seawalls.

Though they are listed as a $9,976,250 asset, replacement cost as valued by the city engineer is $22,108,283.

U.N. Rejects Soviet Charge Against U.S.

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United Nations political committee today overwhelmingly rejected Russia's charges that the United States had committed aggression against China.

Only the five Soviet bloc countries voted to support the charges. Forty-nine countries opposed the proposal. Yugoslavia, Burma and Indonesia abstained.

Russia's charges of aggression were based upon the presence of the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Strait of Formosa.

The 60-country committee also turned down a Soviet demand that the security council be asked to condemn the U.S. for air attacks on Chinese territory. The U.S. has contended the U.N. forces in Korea have dropped some bombs on Chinese territory accidentally and has offered to pay damages.

The vote on the second resolution was five in favor, 50 against and two (Afghanistan and Yugoslavia) abstaining.

The committee's action disposed of the long-standing Soviet charges which were levelled at the U.S. while the U.N. considered similar accusations against Communist North Korea and Communist China.

Death Train's Driver Admits Breaking Rule

Toll Mounts To 82
With 500 Injured

WOODBIDGE, N.J. (AP)

Authorities said today that a crowded commuter Pennsylvania train was travelling twice its authorized speed when it roared off the rails here Tuesday night, killing 82 persons.

Approximately 500 others were injured in the death-dealing wreck, worst in the United States in more than a quarter century.

Middlesex County assistant prosecutor Alex Ader, conducting one of half a dozen investigations, said the train was highballing at 50 miles an hour when it plunged off a newly-built trestle.

He said the train's engineer, Joseph Fitzsimmons, interviewed in his hospital bed, admitted he was travelling this speed, although the railroad had ordered a 25-mile-an-hour limit over the trestle section.

Fitzsimmons was quoted as saying he had slowed down from 60 miles an hour, but had not further retarded his speed because he found no caution signal.

The rush-hour crack-up was the worst in the United States since 1918 when 115 were killed in a Nashville, Tenn., wreck and more disastrous than the 1943 accident outside Philadelphia which took 80 lives.

It was the third major train wreck in the metropolitan area in less than a year. A total of nearly 200 died in the three crack-ups.

On orders of New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, the state's attorney-general, Theodore Parsons, started an investigation.

MANITOBA TO TAKE OVER WINNIPEG ELECTRIC CO.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Campbell today announced the Manitoba Government will expropriate the $92 million Winnipeg Electric Company.

The Premier's announcement in the Legislature culminated a long dispute between the province, the company and the city of Winnipeg.

The Premier said the necessary legislation will be introduced shortly.

The City of Winnipeg will be allowed to retain its municipally-owned city hydro, but will be required to join the power pool to be administered by a provincial hydro-electric board.

The board's aim will be to equalize the price of power to consumers by pooling high-cost and low-cost power.

Rent Controls Being Reconsidered By B.C.

Pressure On
As Dominion
Leaves Field

A change of heart may be seen at the coming session of the Legislature on the question of the province imposing controls when the federal government abandons the field on April 30.

It was indicated earlier the B.C. government would not take up the reins from the Federal control authority, but pressure is growing for provincial action.

Coupled with it is the action of the province of Manitoba which on Tuesday became the fifth province to either promise or pass legislation on rent controlling after the end of April.

Ontario, Saskatchewan, Quebec and Alberta are the other four provinces taking up the question.

Pressure on the B.C. government to step in comes from many different organizations. Resolutions are being received by members of the Legislature for action at the coming session.

Seek Slayer In Kyuquot Area

R.C.M.P. officers aided by Indians were scouring the rough country surrounding a village on remote Kyuquot Sound, on the north island's west coast, seeking a murderer.

The man is reported to have taken to the woods after shooting an Indian believed to be Lewis Oscar, resident of the village, on Tuesday.

R.C.M.P. headquarters received this word today by radio from the force's plane which took a sergeant from Comox to the alleged murder scene this morning. An officer was flown in from Zeballos by a Port Alberni Airways craft late yesterday afternoon.

Reports on the case to headquarters are meagre.

The sound is about 200 land miles from Victoria.

Pearson Declines Cease-Fire Post

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, has officially declined to serve on the three-man United Nations good-offices committee to seek a peaceful settlement with Communist China, informed sources said today.

Nesrollan Entezam of Iran, president of the U.N. General Assembly and chairman of the good-offices committee, was expected to announce Pearson's decision later today.

Blaze In Penitentiary Blamed On Doukhobors

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The prison warden today blamed "rampaging Doukhobors" for a $20,000 fire in a compound at the federal penitentiary here.

The fire which followed an explosion early Tuesday night swept a one-story administration building, housing an office and hospital ward.

"Doukhobors are obviously to blame," said Warden R. S. Douglass. "I'll hold an immediate investigation."

He said when prison fire fighters reached the scene hoses had been sliced in half and the building was a mass of flames.

About 100 Doukhobors, serving long-term sentences for arson and bombing raids in the Kootenays, were held in the compound.

The usual nudeparading and chanting did not take place.

"There were no demonstrations," said Warden Douglass, who had a possible explanation for the explosion.

He will investigate the possibility that a time-bomb may have been planted in a storeroom.

"The Doukhobors had access to the room during the day, but not at night," he said.

"The fire could have been timed to start when it did."

Four patients in the hospital ward were carried to safety by firemen. None was injured.

Twenty of the Doukhobors, members of the militant Sons of Freedom, helped battle the fire while the others were herded against a prison fence under guard.

British Dock Strike Grows

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Communist-backed docked strike entered its fifth day today with a slight increase in the number of strikers in the Mersey area. But there were reports that some of the dockers were thinking about a back-to-work movement.

The National Dock Labor Board said the number of men idle in the Liverpool area, centre of the wildcat walkout, totaled 12,987, an increase of 547 compared with Tuesday and increased the number of ships stalled at the dockside from 73 to 83.

About 4,000 strikers voted at a forenoon mass meeting to continue the stoppage.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PRICES AND PEEVES

WHILE SHOPPING the other day, the fantastic prices of meat came in for their usual caustic comments from myself and other housewives bent on buying something for the family dinner. Because, my nature being what it is, I still find it difficult to adjust myself to paying what used to be "flet mignon" prices for today's hamburger.

But, almost before my housewifely indignation had cooled, I brought myself to with the reflection of how much more difficult it must be for people on tiny incomes, such as annuities and pensions, to include meat in their meals in these days of such prices.

AUSTRALIAN ECHO

A FEW MINUTES later, while waiting to pay for my purchases, I got into casual conversation with a young housewife and discovered that she and her husband, both Canadian born, had recently returned from a three-year sojourn in Australia. And when I asked her how she found conditions down there was surprised to hear her reactions.

"We grumble about prices here, but you ought to live down there! Half the time, you couldn't even get potatoes and onions, because of the shortages of them. Beef was plentiful and not too dear; but everything else was scarce and 'sky-high'," she told me.

HOUSING SHORTAGE

AS TO HOUSING, in her estimation, people in Canada don't know what a housing shortage is. "You couldn't get a house for love nor money—and we tried in Melbourne, Sydney and Newcastle. And rents for rooms and apartments were just out of this world! Here, or in Vancouver, it's as easy as falling off a log to get a place to live compared with down there," she added.

Her words somehow reminded me of a letter I received lately from my sister, who lives just outside London. A government inspector had been to the house to inquire as to whether the little air raid shelter—a vault-like contraption of cement—was "in good order and ready for use in case of an emergency?" And the remembrance of many terrifying nights spent in its tomb-like interior made her feel, as she expressed it to me, that "she simply couldn't face it again!"

LUCKY CANADA!

THAT COMMENT, taken in conjunction with what she had said about the further reduction in meat ration to which the British people have just been reduced—about six ounces of lamb chops, or eight ounces of chopped beef, or nine ounces of lamb, per week—made me even more ashamed at having complained of our high prices.

Not that I like paying them any more than anyone else, and not that I can see them as altogether justified; but at least we in Canada are not rationed down to about nine cents worth of meat per week, as they are in Britain. Nor have we yet got to the state where we have to build air-raid shelters in our back gardens—despite the warnings of those who say that we may even come to that.

LUCKY CANADA!

SO DESPITE our grumbles, I think a good many thinking Canadians will agree with what the proprietress of a certain fish and chip shop in town, a friendly and philosophical little Yorkshire woman, who has only been out here since the war, said to me one day:

"Canada's sittin' on top o' the world, but lots of Canadians don't know it, judgin' by what you hear. Everybody kickin' and grumblin' and criticizin'; everybody knowin' what should have been done about this or that... when it's all over!"

She's right. Canada is sitting on top of the world, and Canadians are enjoying a higher standard of living and have much more to be thankful for than most peoples—as you realize when you take a look at the other side of the world, whether it be to the east or the west.

OLDSTERS SUFFER MOST

Bad Walking Habits Cause Most Of Traffic Accidents

Need of teaching elderly persons safe walking habits is indicated in the fact that five of the seven persons killed in 195 city traffic accidents were over the age of 65.

This was the suggestion from Police Chief John Blackstock at Tuesday's meeting of the police commission.

During the year, 1,020 accident reports were turned in. Officers attended 840 accidents.

There were 171 persons injured in auto accidents. Types of accidents were: auto-auto, 673; auto-pedestrian, 69; car-bicycle, 19; cars hitting fixed objects, 74; cars running off road, three; and overturning cars, two.

People injured in other than highway accidents totaled 372.

Freedom Of News Parley Approved

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (Reuter)—A three-year-old attempt to draw up a proposed international convention on freedom of information was completed Tuesday by a special United Nations 15-member drafting group.

The proposed convention is opposed outright by the United States and the Soviet Union and Britain has expressed strong reservations.

It now will go before the economic and social council with the recommendation that a world conference be called to agree to its terms.

The U.S. opposed the draft text on the ground that it does not adequately safeguard and promote freedom of information.

War Strength For Three Services Requested Here

A call on the federal government to take immediate steps to recruit the navy, army and air force to full war establishments was made Tuesday night by the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association.

It was requested also, at a meeting at St. Mary's Hall, that the necessary command areas and regional depots or holding units be established at once to equip and train the reserve forces.

The association passed a second resolution asking for national registration of all persons between the ages of 16 and 65. Each person should receive a card for security and identification purposes, it was stated.

From the registration, the people should be classified in three categories according to age, physical fitness and qualifications for national service in essential services, war industries and military service.

Court Gives City $6,000 More Taxes

VICTORIA (CP)—An assize court jury, deliberating only 25 minutes, Tuesday night acquitted George Spencer Elliott on a charge of attempting to murder his sweetheart after she broke their engagement.

Elliott, 23, was accused of trying to kill Eileen Eager, 19, by driving his car off a Vancouver pier.

Miss Eager was the principal witness against the youth, who denied he tried to kill her.

In a statement to police, read in court, Elliott admitted saying he couldn't live without the girl but explained it was "primarily an emotional remark."

Elliott said he drove to the waterfront, Sept. 15 to try to straighten things out. When the car was 15 or 20 feet from the edge, the girl had jumped out.

The youth said he tried to stop her but when he saw it was too late he gave her a push so she would not be struck by the car door, which opens toward the back.

Wage Talks Nearing Finish For Bus Men

Negotiations may be completed within the next two weeks to provide an increase in pay to bus, streetcar and trolley operators and garage maintenance men employed by the B.C. Electric.

Executive members of the Amalgamated Street Railwaymen's Union, which is bargaining for employees in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, were meeting today on the mainland to consider an undisclosed wage offer from the company.

The company's wage proposal was made in answer to a union request for a 25-cent an hour pay boost.

The present working agreement between operators and company was signed in 1949 and terminates on March 1.

Bus drivers and streetcar operators gained a 40-hour week under terms of the 1949 agreement.

U.S. Railway Tie-up Appears To Be Fading

CHICAGO (AP)—The critical and costly tie-up of United States railroad transportation appeared easing today as more striking switchmen joined in the back-to-work movements which started Tuesday.

There was not a full-scale return across the country marking the end of the "sick call" walkout which started Jan. 30, but indications were that the crippling week-long stoppage was nearing an end in most parts of the United States.

Several bright spots appeared on the troubled rail front following the first major break yesterday when thousands of switchmen returned to work.

Service was normal on major lines in the New York and New England areas. It was near normal in many other cities, and many carriers expressed hope for normal service as soon as the back-to-work movement spread from city to city.

But there were some dark spots, too, in the over-all picture.

There were a couple of new—although small—walkouts. And not many trains were moving in some of the key rail centres—notably Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The delay in a full return to work delayed the recall of thousands of workers in rail-related industries. More than 250,000 had been made idle in the last week because of the rail work stoppage. Approximately 1,200 switchmen were involved in the walkout.

Freighter In For Repairs After Storm

Loose rivets and other lesser damage suffered in heavy weather is being repaired on the British freighter King Stephen, currently in the Esquimalt drydock.

Workers from Yarrows Ltd. are handling the work, and are carrying out other routine below-the-waterline clean-up.

Cecil Ridout of King Bros. Ltd. said the vessel is expected to come out of drydock Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Canadian freighter Seaside today started loading 1,000,000 board feet of lumber at V.M.D.'s outer wharf.

She arrived here last night from Cowichan Bay where she took on 2,000,000 feet of lumber. Her skipper is Capt. Uriel Eynon.

The Welsh Prince took over the Cowichan Bay berth from the Seaside yesterday afternoon and is loading 600,000 feet of lumber for Britain.

Other speakers were Charles Mann, past district lieutenant-governor, and Graham Ralston, lieutenant-governor, who introduced Mr. Logan. Mrs. A. J. Shakespeare and Miss Patricia Shakespeare provided music for the meeting.

"I am satisfied none of the outlying municipalities has the physical assets which Victoria enjoys but does not realize," Ald. Skillings told his committee. "This statement substantiates my earlier contention that any further negotiations for a metropolitan area will have to be initiated by the other municipalities."

"Victoria is in a most advantageous position. Our streets, sewers and many other assets were built at low cost compared to the terrific expense which would be incurred today to put them in or replace them."

Valuations placed were on the replacement cost less depreciation, following consultation with the civic officials heading the departments concerned.

COVERING 57 YEARS

The statement was prepared by Ismay, Bolton, Dunn & Co. following instructions from City Council in June of last year. Financial statements of the corporation for the 57 years between 1893 and 1949 were surveyed and the accounts saw where some of the city's present assets were built with 25-cent-an-hour labor.

Land and buildings, other than schools, parks and cemetery were valued at $4,104,136; parks, boulevards, $2,109,024; street-lighting plant, $453,411; schools, equipment, $2,636,106; equipment, office furniture, materials, $972,569; amount due from Greater Victoria Water District re sale of supply system, $3,191,592.

Not included in the valuations were such assets as: Elk Lake, Gorge Park, Thelma Lake, Mount Douglas; trees on an estimated 63 miles of boulevard streets; grant of $225,000 to Royal Jubilee Hospital in 1921 for construction; grant of $100,000 for nurses' home; Crystal Garden land, assessed for $29,860; land and building leased to Manning Lumber Mills Ltd., assessed at $26,200.

Science-Crisis Theme Of Lecture

Dr. G. M. Shrum, head of U.B.C.'s Department of Physics and director of the Department of University Extension, will address a meeting of the Victoria Extension Association next Monday at 8.15 in the Victoria College Normal School Auditorium. His topic will be "Science and the International Crisis."

As a scientist, Dr. Shrum has distinguished himself—first of all in low temperature research. He played a major role in the development of a helium liquefier at the University of Toronto in 1923—the second ever to be constructed until then.

A NIGHT OF HORROR

Pitiful Remains In Wrecked U.S. Train

PERTH AMBOY, N.J. (UP)—A man stumbled dazedly through the door of the coroner's office. On his forehead was an ugly red wound. There was blood on his face. He wobbled as he said, "My wife... she was sitting next to me on the train. I have this." He held up a battered pocketbook.

A friend steadied him with a reassuring hand and said, "Bill, do you want the priest to go in with you to look for her?"

"Yes, well, maybe, or... yes." And the three walked through the inner door to view the mangled horrors within.

A nurse sobbed convulsively in the corner of the waiting room, an elderly grey-haired man at her side. She had rushed from rescue work to identify her own husband.

Croner Samuel Kain showed her an envelope—one of the envelopes that contain the pitiful remains of wallets, used to identify the dead.

"CAN WE BE SURE?" "But," she stammered, "Can we be sure?"

And so it went through to the dawn.

Inside the morgue the bodies were lined up head to foot in three or four rooms. Ambulance squads brought them in in batches.

Everybody knew it was a commuter train. You could tell from the bodies as they were brought in. Newspapers were still folded in the overcoat pockets of some of the men. When one man was brought in a paper bag filled with candy, probably for his children, spilled its contents on the spattered floor.

Four or five nurses stood by. There were blood stains on their white shoes and stockings. There was mud up to their knees and it had splattered up the front of their white uniforms.

Nurse Helen Misko, Dunellen, N.J., looked strange, her eyes staring.

"I don't ever want to talk about what I've seen tonight," she said.

B.C. COAL COMPANY RAZED BY FIRE FOR SECOND TIME

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-alarm fire today swept a coal company's premises in a crowded industrial area of Vancouver. Two trucks were gutted and coal and roofing supplies were hit when flames ate through the Sun Coal Co. building. J. Stevenson, the owner, said his business was wiped out by fire previously—in 1947. He said damage in today's fire was covered by insurance.

Does This Buy Safety?

MEASURED BY OUR PEACETIME experience, the new Canadian defence budget is gigantic. Measured by our needs and by the budgets of our allies, it is modest. Measured by our productive capacity, it will not cut very deep into our living standards. But measured by the uncertainties of the future it cannot be considered a final figure. Without marked improvement in the international climate, the budget certainly will rise beyond the present tentative estimate.

The Government proposes to spend $1.6 billions on defence in the next fiscal year and $5 billions over three years. The present rate of defence expenditure is being roughly doubled. In terms of population we shall spend about as much as Britain, whose budget is now fixed at just over $14 billions for three years, but only one-third as much per capita as the United States.

A fair comparison must consider not only population but wealth. Canada, with a total production of $20 billions a year, will spend 8 per cent of it on defence. The United States will spend 17 per cent of its $300 billion production. Spending at twice our rate, it will still have more money, or goods, left over for its average citizen than we have.

Both countries can carry this load and still maintain a living standard far higher than that of any other country anywhere. In Canada we are asked to sacrifice only 8 per cent of our money, goods and labor to protect our national life—a pittance, considering what is at stake. Indeed, if we work harder and increase our total production, the loss of civilian goods will be less than that.

Nevertheless, the financial problems which reflect this physical diversion of goods will be formidable. A few simple facts will clarify them.

Before the Second World War the Canadian Government spent about $500 millions a year. Last spring the Government proposed to spend $2.4 billions. This figure was raised to $2.6 billions in the autumn, $769 millions of it for defence. With defence raised on March 1 next to $1.6 billions, the next budget (lacking any reduction in civilian spending) will total about $3.4 billions.

Thus the Government must find about $800 millions in extra revenue. This will not be as difficult as it looks since the Government has grossly underestimated its revenue collections this year and is said to be collecting some $400 millions more than it expected. The exact size of this surplus has not been revealed but probably Mr. Abbott's problem in the next year will be to find about $500 millions more money.

That is a lot of money in Canadian terms, about the amount of the present personal income tax as estimated by Mr. Abbott a year ago. However the extra revenue is collected, we face a sharp increase in taxes, roughly the equivalent of our total prewar budgets. Add to that a quarter of a billion for universal old-age pensions and the average tax for every man, woman and child in the nation rises by about $4 a month.

That is a small price to pay for safety. The real question is whether we are actually buying safety. The Government answers that, with our expanded armed forces, we shall fulfill our obligations to the general defence of the free world. Parliament should inquire carefully into that rather vague statement. By the efforts of the United States, by the bitter sacrifices of Britain in its poverty, our total program still seems inadequate.

Apart from its cost, can the Government secure, by voluntary means, the manpower necessary to support it? Whether our program is large enough for our needs and our obligations, whether we can man that program even if it is large enough, Parliament must now decide.

How To Square A Circle

MR. COLDWELL'S ARGUMENT IN favor of a price ceiling without a wage ceiling is ingenious and transparent. He tells Parliament that the Government can fix prices because wages already are fixed. They are fixed, he says, by collective bargaining between employers and unions.

But the wages of millions of Canadians, the incomes from savings and all pensions paid by the state are not fixed by collective bargaining. They are at the mercy of the falling dollar.

In any case, there is no parallel between a price ceiling fixed by the state and wages fixed by collective bargaining. When the Government fixes a price the whole apparatus of the law enforces it without deviation. When a union negotiates a wage contract these days it invariably demands and usually gets an increase, and costs and prices rise as a result. It returns at the end of the contract to ask another increase and hence another increase in price.

Only a tortured politician in search of easy votes could possibly argue that wages are pegged by this process or that prices could be pegged while the process continues. Since wages are the chief content of prices, there can be no state control of prices without state control of wages. No government in its senses would try to control one without the other.

Mr. Coldwell would be logical if he advocated control of both. For political reasons he does not dare to be logical. He tries to square the vicious circle of inflation with a false formula.

India Asks For Food

MR. NEHRU, like many great men before him, suffers from the legend of infallibility. Because he is one of the ablest minds of our time he is expected always to be right. When he is sometimes wrong, as all men are, he receives blame which other statesmen escape, since the public expects them to be wrong a great part of the time in any case.

Thus Mr. Nehru is heavily blamed for misjudging India's capacity to produce food. He thought that his country would soon be able to feed itself. Today, with a growing population and crop failures, India is desperately short of food. That it can ever hope to produce all its needs, as Mr. Nehru hopes, is doubtful and it might better sell its manufactured goods abroad, as other over-populated countries do, and buy food from them.

That India faces hunger today is certain. In his extremity Mr. Nehru asks a gift of grain from the United States which could afford to make it but is reluctant to aid an Indian Government which quarrels with American policy in China.

It would be a short-sighted attitude to confuse the hunger of the Indian people with the foreign policy of their Government. The west has been unable to attract the Indian Government to its Chinese policy, as approved by the United Nations, but it still needs the goodwill of the Indian people. Though they may not understand foreign affairs they understand hunger and they will understand a gift of American food. If the gift is refused it will be easy for the local Communists and the Russian propagandists to say that the United States is interested only in using the Indian people for its own ends and not in helping them.

What about Canada? We are planning to join the Southeast Asia aid program, a slow process. In the meantime could we not offer some grain which would otherwise be sold, as a proof of our intentions? Hunger will not wait for planners.

Crown And Citizen

OUR CANADIAN LIBERTIES ARE based on the principle that in any court of law the citizen is the equal of the Crown. In fact there is no such equality, unless the Crown chooses to grant it. A citizen cannot sue the Government of Canada without the Government's consent. Before he can launch a suit he must secure what is called a fiat.

For many years private members of Parliament and various public bodies have asked that the fiat be abolished, that the Government be exposed to legal action like the citizen. The Government answered as late as last year that in its wisdom it always granted a fiat to any reasonable litigant and would not abandon its old prerogative. But the Government at last has been compelled by public opinion to abandon it.

As indicated in the recent Speech from the Throne, the fiat is to be abolished. This relic of absolute monarchy has lingered far too long in a free society and is well out of the way.

Timely Words From The Court

ONE DAY AFTER MEMBERS OF THE Court of Appeal had noted the prevalence of armed robbery and indicated the need for more severe sentences against those caught in that crime, Victorians learned that an armed man had held up a Chinese cafe on Fisgard Street. The local instance lends emphasis to the points made by members of the highest B.C. court.

The seriousness of armed robbery is obvious. As Mr. Justice Bird noted, the transition from that crime to murder could be easily made. At all events, the more serious offense is implied when a person threatens another with a lethal weapon. Use of a gun by a hold-up man, either to frighten a victim or for more deadly purpose, shows definite intent on the part of the criminal to commit a crime—and that crime could be homicide.

Under such circumstances, there can be scant grounds for sympathy toward an armed robber. The remarks of the Appeal Court justices are timely.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ONE hundred and ninety-two years ago an acorn dropped upon the soil close to where my house now stands. It took root and grew into a tree nearly three feet through the trunk. But that unfortunate acorn fell in the wrong spot, hard by a smooth slant of rock where the roots could find no sure foothold. In the big gale the other day, after clinging to life for just under two centuries, the great oak, with a last gentle sigh of swaying branches, returned prostrate to the earth.

ITS life, in ceaseless struggle with gale and drought, had been strenuous and long. As I cut up its wrinkled flesh for decent burial in my fireplace next winter I calculated, from my dim knowledge of history, that the acorn put out its first hopeful rootlet in the same year, perhaps the same September month, when Wolfe planted the flag of England in the earth of Canada and felt the shaft slip from his dying hand upon the sodden plains of Abraham.

As the tiny seedling pushed up its first green shoot in the next spring that other oaken growth, Dr. Johnson, was spreading his mature limbs over the grubby town of London. Boswell and the other philosophers of the Club were arranging the world's affairs, cheerfully oblivious of that larger world beyond the seas, where the new oak was sprouting.

YOUNG George Washington, escaping miraculously from the winter flood of the Ohio and from Braddock's massacre on the Monongahela was settling down to a quiet life at Mount Vernon, never suspecting that his own growth had hardly begun. Pitt, Frederick the Great, Clive and the crimson women of the French court bestrode the world like colossi and Voltaire mocked them from his hermitage while quarrelling with a neighbor over the price of cordwood.

While the little oak grew beside the western sea the eighteenth century, prolific mother of the modern world, was surging in rank and monstrous growth, the bitter fruits of which we are reaping at this hour. But as men conquered, re-conquered, divided and re-divided the world, swarmed across the oceans to bring civilization and slaughter to other men who didn't want them, the oak attended strictly to its own business.

IT had plenty to occupy its time and energy. The winter gales came in from the Pacific, bending its frail trunk, twisting its branches into rheumatic curves. The parched summer sucked the moisture from the earth and the tree's roots vainly sought a droplet of nourishment until, by autumn, the leaves hung starved and listless, awaiting their end.

Yet somehow, by a dumb energy known to trees only, by an intelligence which had no brain, by a sure instinct which needed no guidance, the oak pushed out its fine threads of nourishment, inch upon inch, anchored itself to every minute cranny in the rock, added a few extra twigs every year, expanded its trunk with a few more billion cells and, with another ring of growth to mark the summer's progress, waved its naked arms of winter defiantly in the face of the storm.

MIRACULOUSLY enough, man somehow passed it by. How many Indian children played with acorns under that tree before the white men came, how many dark-skinned lovers embraced beneath its shade, how many Spanish explorers and Scots traders of the Hudson's Bay Company stretched out here in the heat of noon, looking up at the restless ceiling of foliage, as matters for private speculation by the man who finally dismembers the fallen oak. As my saw moves back and forth across these tough fibres (moves slowly, these days, for the saw and its owner are old and rusty) the steel blade whispers to me confidentially of these ancient memories, known only to the oak and now dead with it.

THE WHOLE lifetime of white men in this part of the world could be told by the oak if it could only speak. Alas, like most of the men who have passed here on the long and weary trail, it leaves no mark or testament, save its wretched and tortured stump, which soon will be earth again like men and all living things.

Those men have left children and so has the oak. Its acorns, like the acorn which gave it the chance of life 192 years ago, are wide scattered and have grown in a thriving family around the grandfatherly trunk. The space of earth and sky which the patriarch has now surrendered will soon be occupied by its posterity which, a century or two hence, may well look down, unmoved, upon the destruction and disappearance of mankind.

WITH a decent respect for things larger and more enduring than men, I shall burn the branches in a great funeral pyre, I shall burn the trunk in my fireplace and scatter the ashes and their chemicals of growth back upon the earth. Thus, though the careless gales of winter have chosen this single oak from among all others for extinction, nothing really will be lost. Last autumn's acorns already are going about their business in the soil.

Time has become the most compelling factor in our defence planning.—U.S. Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr.

PRIZE WINNER

Even the unenlightened may appreciate what is appreciable. After reading your Loose Ends aloud to my wife for years, last evening I remarked, "Another Mrs. Noggins! who is beginning to bore me, so will pass her up."

Then curiosity reasserting itself, I said, here, listen, this is different! And we agreed that it was the prize winner. Especially where she says: "And who is to blame? When I look in the mirror I can see the real criminal and you, too, sir, 'ave a guilty look.'"

First among those wishing success to our local musical group "The Home-towners" and their genial pianist, Al Smith, on their Trans-Canada broadcast series will be the patients at the Veterans' Hospital.

Very few people not connected with the hospital or the Red Cross Lodge know how generously these artists have given of their time and talents to entertain those of us who have to spend varying amounts of time there.

The particular occasion for this letter is a very fine concert they gave on Sunday evening. I hope in this short note they will find some expression of our gratitude although this cannot be adequately done in words.

Good luck, boys, and may it be ninety-nine weeks.

PROTEST PRICES

Friday at 4 p.m. I checked four barber shops near Yates and Broad, total 14 barbers, and only two working. No doubt they will agree that business last week-end was pretty slow.

Barbers' Association in Saturday's advertisement says suburban one-man shops are justified in charging $1, as they cut mostly children's hair at 50 cents. I wonder what they do from 8 to 3.30 when the children are in school, high overhead can hardly be claimed as suburban rent is low.

A smart barber with modern clippers can easily do four or five haircuts an hour which is $40 for an eight-hour day. Free enterprise is getting to be a thing of the past, isn't it illegal to agree to fix prices? A press release told us of a probable raise to 85c in May, and then overnight a fixed price of $1.

A capable barber from other provinces can't operate here! We have come to a pretty pass with much class legislation of many kinds that is against public interests and which encourages inflation. We need a consumers' league to combat these machinations and the general high cost of living in Victoria.

BLACK STRAP

There has been considerable talk in the papers lately about the use of black strap (brown syrup, treacle, molasses, that which is left after the refining of sugar) as a medicine for this and that.

Referring to drug section of Medical Dictionary, I find that it is a recognized treatment for the poison of snakebite—mainly, I presume, because in heavy dosage it enlivens the excretory system of the body, by increasing kidney and bowel, heart and lung, and even skin action—all of which is to the good towards getting rid of the snake poison.

Taken in smaller doses, it acts in the same way, but not with such violence. Taken in regular, very small doses daily, it, no doubt, is a very good food, helpful to the whole system, for it is the very essence of sugar.

It need not be taken pure by the teaspoonful, the hard way, but diluted with water or milk, and added to other things. Try it that way for better health.

MR. HARVEY REPLIES

My attention has been drawn to the letter written by Mr. Harry G. Perry, who writes under his signature that he is a former minister, speaker and M.L.A. (21 years). Mr. Perry writes as president of the B.C. Liberal Association. I could not achieve any of the honors mentioned that have been attained by Mr. Perry. I do take issue, however, with him on a number of the statements appearing in his article. First of all, my letter was not intended to be "mischievous," as suggested, but genuinely serious.

I note with interest that as president of the B.C. Liberal Association he states that he considers that I am in error when I suggested that the advocacy of the single transferable vote was a "device" whereby the B.C. Liberal Party could regain power. I note that he asserts that the B.C. Liberal Association has gone on record as being in favor of this "device" both federally and provincially. The only question that I would ask him is how much support he has been able to receive from the federal organization of his party, his federal leader, the Right Honorable the Prime Minister of Canada, or from anyone else connected with the federal policies of his party.

I agree a great deal with many of the remarks of the former minister, speaker and M.L.A., as he so correctly describes himself, but I think in fairness to the public he should explain the whole situation and what the federal organization of his party thinks about it.

Problems For Mao In Moscow

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, from Washington.

A REPORT that Mao Tse-tung has left Peking for Moscow is current on high governmental levels. The news is unconfirmed as yet, as was the first news of Molotov's August journey to Peking, when the Chinese intervention in Korea was planned. But now, as then, there are at least many pressing reasons why the Kremlin's great Far Eastern vassal and the Soviet high command need to talk about new moves in Asia.

Indeed, one can almost write the agenda for the meeting, which would probably read, "Southeast Asia, Korea, and their relationship to possible moves in Europe." It is the time factor that makes the problem of Southeast Asia the most likely candidate to head the list.

In Indo-China, the prime target area, the season of low clouds called the "Crachin" which veil troop movements from air attack, lasts until approximately May 1, when the beginning of the rainy season makes troop movements extremely difficult. Hence, if the Chinese wish to attack, their best time to do so will be not later than the end of the first week of March, which will allow them two months of campaigning.

The evidence of Chinese preparation for an attack southward is just as strong as when it was first reported in this space. The Chinese "liberation army" of 250,000 men, under a Sino-Soviet joint staff, still stands poised on the Indo-Chinese border. The improvement of the roads southward is being completed.

Furthermore, there is now evidence of another Chinese Communist army of from 100,000 to 150,000 men in Yunnan province, at the head of the old Burma Road. The possibility that these troops are moving down the road toward Burma is suggested by the reported appearance of a Chinese regiment in the tribal country across the Burma border. And in the present confused situation in Burma, where the government of Premier Thakin Nu is struggling with two different armed Communist bands and many other dissidents, Chinese intervention there would be just as decisive as in Indo-China.

In other words, the Chinese have plainly made ready to grasp the great prizes of Southeast Asia. In one vital sense, however, the temptation to do so has been greatly reduced. Two months ago, the most effective flank attack on the Western alliance would have been a Communist triumph in Southeast Asia, with all its alarming and demoralizing effects in Europe.

Today, on the other hand, the main effort would be to shatter the delusions of the wish-thinkers in London, Delhi and elsewhere; and thus bring the Western allies together again. This is a great loss for Mao and the Soviet high command to balance against Southeast Asian gains.

It may be true, moreover, that the position in Korea will influence the thinking of Mao Tse-tung. If not of his masters, about adventures elsewhere. With choices so difficult confronting him it will certainly not be surprising if Mao Tse-tung has indeed started the long journey to Moscow, to learn the views and receive the orders of his masters.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"MOST PEOPLE," said the Elevator Man, "recognize the value of fanfare. Things seem to go over better with a little whoop-de-do and holler. Perhaps that's because we've got so used to North American advertising noises and publicity palaver. Doing something quietly and without trying to get attention seems almost out of place, like having a tooth pulled with a smile on your face, or knitting peacefully at a slambang hockey game. Twentieth-century youngsters seem to be born with the need to draw attention to themselves. The old principle that 'children should be seen and not heard' just wouldn't fit them for life in these times. Not that it's a particularly good thing, mind you. Seems to me some times, we spend so much time publicizing what we're going to do that we never quite get around to doing it. Going down!

"It reminds me," said the Elevator Man, "of the argument in the motto factory when a worker asked the boss for a raise. 'You know the adage,' he said, 'the wheel that does the squeaking gets the grease.' That so?" says the boss. "Well, there's another one that says the steam that blows the whistle doesn't turn the wheel." "Oh, yeah?" says the employee. "Don't forget that the hen that does the cackling lays the egg." "That's enough of that," snapped the boss. "You don't get the raise. You can't tell by the auto's horn how much gas it has in the tank. Lower main!"

"I see," said the Elevator Man, "where one American Army outfit in Korea is going to copy the Chinese game and blow bugs when they're going into action. I suppose if the Reds think that scares folks, maybe it'll scare them too. What we really need there now, it seems, is some bagpipes, and send the Chinese reeling."

Chin In, Chest Out

Ottawa Citizen

A REUTER'S dispatch from London telling how a Grenadier guardsman "stood stock still, chin in, chest out, staring straight ahead" while a car careened to within six feet of him implies that the man's behavior was unusual. This is a false assumption. The man was guarding Buckingham Palace. His orders were to remain at his post until another sentry relieved him of it. If the Grenadier Guards were to permit one of its members to neglect his duties, the result might be a complete breakdown in the discipline of the unit. Guardsmen might develop the habit, not only of attending accidents, but of hopping off to fires or even parades during working hours. And what would become of Buckingham Palace?

Moreover, there was a distance of six feet between him and the attacking car. In the guardsman's situation, a Canadian pedestrian would have been bored. On this side of the Atlantic we ignore any cars that do not nudge us; trucks, with loads, and street cars that are less than a foot away we treat less perfunctorily. We never would acknowledge the presence of a car that is a full six feet away. These are matters of pride, as well as good sportsmanship, with the people of this continent.

Unified Sea Forces For Atlantic Pact

U.S. Admiral Named To Command Navy For Defence Of Western Area

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atlantic Treaty powers have virtually completed plans for setting up a unified sea force, such as the combined land and air forces on the continent, with an American admiral as top commander.

Admiral William M. Fechteler, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Atlantic Fleet, probably will be named soon to head the Supreme Allied Command organization for the North Atlantic Ocean Region. It was learned today.

Although the North Atlantic Region Command is part of the

Manitoba To Control Rent, Minister Says

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba is the fifth Canadian province to decide to control rents when the federal government abandons the field April 30.

Provincial Secretary Charles E. Green said in the Legislature Tuesday rent control legislation will be brought down before the end of the present session. He gave no details.

Previously Quebec, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Ontario had either passed or promised legislation. Newfoundland had its own controls since Confederation.

T.L.C. CHAIRMAN FELS DELEGATE AS 3 UNSEATED

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—The presiding officer punched a delegate to the floor at a meeting of the Port Arthur Trades and Labor Council Tuesday night in a fist fight that was followed by the unseating of three left-wing delegates.

The chairman, William Godfrey, first vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, left his chair to meet George Andrew Cotter in the centre of the hall. He felled the delegate with a solid left hook.

Mr. Godfrey had called the delegate a Communist. Mr. Cotter shouted back that the chairman lied.

THE HOME GARDEN

Lemon Verbena Gives Delicious Fragrance

By HILDA BEASTALL

An interesting small shrubby plant, well worth space in the home garden, is the old-fashioned Lemon Verbena.

This is a plant which I do not recall having ever seen around here, though no doubt it has been in some of the gardens visited.

The Lemon Verbena is properly Lippia citriodora, although listed in some catalogues as Aloysia citriodora, which is an older name.

When looking for fragrance in the garden, this little plant will be welcomed for the delicious citrus perfume emitted by the leaves. A small sprig tucked into the foliage of a flower arrangement will add elusive interest.

The plant, which is not entirely hardy here, except in very favored positions, is most commonly propagated by young shoots rooted in sand in the spring. In the fall, before frosts, pot the plant, trim it into shape, and enjoy it as a house plant all winter.

A compost of two parts of light loam, two parts leafmould and one part sand makes an ideal potting mixture.

Prune hard in the early spring, and start into growth before replacing in the garden.

As mentioned above, in sheltered gardens, this little plant is probably quite safe for the winter, and will grow into a fine bush. Pruning will be necessary to keep it in shape.

Personally, I shall try raising some plants of this Lippia from seed this year, though some of you may be fortunate enough to obtain cuttings from friends in the spring.

Flowers and plants which give us fragrance are not sufficiently numerous that we can afford to overlook even one which will suit our particular growing conditions. If any of you have a favorite, will you please let the rest of us know about it? Perfume as well as beauty is necessary to make a really satisfying garden.

Wartime Air Minister In Favor Of R.C.A.F. Boost

C.C.F. Motion Criticizing Government's U.N. Stand On Korea Defeated In Voice Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wartime air minister told the Commons Tuesday night he favors the Government's proposal to boost this country's aerial strength.

Hon. C. G. Power, who broke for defence to bulwark this country's boundaries against external attack. While no Canadian would refuse to defend his own country, there should be opposition to conscription for overseas service.

But he wondered whether the people were satisfied with this preponderance of air power.

He added: "I say that because during the Second World War there were persons in this country and in this House of Commons who, notwithstanding the achievements of our air force, were not convinced that Canada was doing her part in the war until the casualty lists started coming in from Italy."

Mr. Power's speech highlighted a sagging Throne Speech debate. Before he stepped into the debate, another Liberal—David Croll from Toronto Spadina—warned of the dangers of rearming Western Germany. This question should be approached with the "greatest caution and the still-viding memory of what an armed Germany cost the world in blood and tears not so many years ago."

As the debate waned, the House by a voice vote rejected a C.C.F. non-confidence motion, standing since the debate opened six days ago. It criticized the government for supporting the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to denounce Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

In a rare occurrence, the C.C.F. did not call for a recorded vote on their motion, which had been widely criticized in the debate. W. H. Herridge (C.C.F.-Kootenay West), calling for revocation of price controls, revived the debate before action could be taken on a Progressive Conservative motion criticizing the government on various aspects of its preparedness program.

Mr. Power said there still are some Canadians who are battery-minded, division-minded and the like. Since the government was launching a $5,000,000,000 defence program, members should give their views because this program passed unchallenged.

Dr. Raoul Paulin (Ind.-Beauce, Que.), suggested Canada should keep her armed forces at home and urge the billions to be voted

Day's Receipts Of Launderette Go To Solarium

A typical day's contributions to the "Shower of Dimes" in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children includes cheques from Galiano, Pavilion, Fruitvale, Fort St. John, Williams Lake, Vancouver Island, Victoria and Vancouver.

Most of these come from individuals, business firms, clubs, and school children according to Solarium Junior League officials, sponsors of the drive.

In Victoria one of the upturned umbrellas in a department store has already received more than $100. Umbrellas have been put in strategic points up-island. Small containers have been sent all over the province.

On Wednesday members of the Junior League will be on hand at the Launderette, 843 Yates, to help customers. The firm is donating its receipts for the day to the campaign.

Coconut Treat: Coconut pastel frosting on angel cake balls.

Time For A Valentine's Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Even if Valentine's Day has crept up on you and caught you unprepared, there is still time to do something about it. Just step into your neighborhood bakery and buy two dozen cupcakes, or two angel food cakes. The rest is easy.

First, frost the cupcakes with coconut pastel frosting. Or, with two forks, separate the angel food cakes into balls about two inches in diameter and cover them with the frosting. Next, arrange the cakes to form a heart on a background of paper doilies that overlap each other so that the lacy edges outline the cakes. Decorate your valentine with cupid and hearts and cut from colored metal paper, a lace frill and a ribbon bow or two. Then give your party.

One-half cup tart jelly, 1 egg white, unbeaten, 4 tablespoons sugar, dash of salt, ¼ cup coconut.

Combine jelly, egg white, sugar and salt in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary egg beater 3 minutes. Frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water and cool slightly before spreading. Spread on cake, sprinkling with coconut while frosting is still soft. Note: This makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers, or top and sides of 13x9x2-inch cake, or about 2 dozen cupcakes.

Britain Planning New Guided Missiles Test

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuter)—Entirely new types of guided missiles will be tried out by British scientists on Australia's vast rocket range at Woomera, Sir Alec Coryton, British Supply ministry expert, said yesterday. Wants Force Increased To Permit Police Training

Commissioner Tells Board It Would 'Pay Big Dividends In Long Run'

Police Commissioner Brent Murdoch, advocating a five-man boost in city police strength to permit members to take special training, told the police board Tuesday: "It will pay dividends in the long run."

City Objects To Proposal To Cut Hospital Board

City Council Tuesday protested a provincial government proposal to cut the city's representation on the Jubilee Hospital board of directors from 5 to 2.

By a 5-3 vote council agreed to ask for only a two-member cut on the board. Aldermen also felt representation should be strictly from the aldermanic board, not as at present, mainly from private citizens.

The government's recommendation covered a general reduction of board members from 18 to 12.

"We should at least have three," said the mayor.

Ald. Frank Mulliner and Ald. Waldo Skillings said the board was so large as to be unwieldy.

With Ald. William Pinfold they voted against the motion which asked for three members instead of two. It has been the custom for many years to appoint one alderman and four private citizens to represent the city on the hospital board.

"I just want to warn you this hospital situation is not over," said Mayor George. "You'll hear more of it. I don't want to threaten you but just advise of the situation."

He said there were indications of increased costs and the 102 municipalities in the U.B.C.M. were deeply concerned over a possible increase in per diem rates paid by the city under the Hospitalization Act.

Ald. Margaret Christie urged that only aldermen represent the city.

The City Council appointees are: D. J. Proudfoot, M.L.A., H. M. Diggon, G. H. Stevens, H. P. Hodges and J. C. Thom.

Mayor Percy George, chairman, was in accord. He suggested that the 1951 budget for the department was not yet set and that this could probably be provided for in setting the estimates.

Commissioner Murdoch would like to see a system whereby officers graduating from one grade to another go through written tests to replace the present system of putting in time and getting advancement on the reports of senior officers.

During the discussion Mayor George told of the messages of commendation he had received from citizens during the last few months for the polite, kind manner in which police conducted themselves at accident and other trouble scenes.

Chief Blackstock would like someone trained to take over the "schoolmaster" job, which is now done by Det.-Insp. Charles Webb, who puts in a lot of spare time at home to cover his department work and that of instructing.

Housewife Biggest Foe Of Inflation

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's secret weapon against inflation is the housewife, Donald Gordon, C.N.R. president and wartime head of the Prices Board, said here Tuesday night.

In a speech at a meeting of the Canadian Retail Federation he paid tribute to the women as the restraining element in our present spiralling inflation. He commended the bargain-hunting woman, explaining that one of the major causes of inflation was a public disregard of prices.

CITY WILL FIGHT

Ready For Court Action On Gorge Zone By-Law

The city will fight any attempt to quash its Gorge Road rezoning by-law.

At a special meeting Tuesday afternoon City Council reaffirmed its stand of a week ago to fight a move by R. P. Macmillan who stated he would apply to the Supreme Court of B.C. to quash the zoning by-law. Ald. Waldo Skillings cast the only negative vote.

The matter of rezoning a piece of property between Washington and Irma on Gorge Road has been before council and the Town Planning Commission since last summer. Col. J. P. J. Godreau sought the rezoning in order to erect an auto court.

Three weeks ago council passed a by-law designating south side of Gorge from the Victoria Nursing Home to the C.N.R. Crossing as commercial. Nine members of the Town Planning Commission resigned en masse as a result.

Mr. Macmillan is applying for quashing on grounds that the city did not abide by the Town Planning Act and obtain a final report before taking action.

Consider Pension For Ex-Constable

Possibility of ex-Constable Stanley Cornish securing a special city pension, was laid over until Commissioner Brent Murdoch can study the whole matter and report back to the police board. It was decided at Tuesday's meeting. Wounded in the stomach by a bullet while doing his job early in the postwar period, Cornish suddenly resigned from the force late last year.

Nanaimo Library May Have New Quarters

NANAIMO — Mayor Earle Westwood has announced the local library has been offered the opportunity to secure new quarters.

His statement followed a complaint in the City Council by Ald. Charles Wharton of the adverse publicity given Nanaimo's library building.

According to a survey by the Union Libraries of B.C., Nanaimo headquarters of the Vancouver Island Library was termed "a disgrace."

Board Rejects L.P.P. Charge Of Interfering With Liberties

After discussing a Labor Progressive Party's claim the police are "interfering with the civil liberties of citizens," the Police Board decided yesterday the officers were doing their duty.

The board learned two officers responded to a call by a citizen reporting that leaflets were being thrown around by two men.

When the officers arrived at the scene, one of the men took to his heels and disappeared. Police took the other man to the station and questioned him.

"The police had every right to act as they did," said Commissioner Brent Murdoch. He was supported by board chairman, Mayor Percy George.

VICTORIAN SPRING by Cecil Maiden

Up and out on the heaving deck the second mate helped them one by one to get a precarious foothold. They were in the teeth of the gale out there now, with the great sails reefed in a straining helplessness in the driving rain high above them. The wind was tearing and screaming through the shrouds and ratlines; stinging the flapping canvas back and forth in helpless violence over the splintered mizzenmast.

With every roll of the ship great seas, made twice as great by the din of the night around them, swelled up and over the side, sweeping away all that was not secured.

Somehow, in all this frenzy, Letty helped Mr. Swakeley to get his wife under the lee of one of the lifeboats, and started back towards her mother and father, clinging to and inching her way along the deckhouse rail towards the companionway again.

They were firing rockets now, and in the glare from the lighting of one she caught a glimpse of her mother's thin, delicate face not more than a yard or two away from her. She flung out an arm under her sodden cape to try to reach her, but that very moment the ship herself was jerked into a shattering halt. There was a snapping of wood and a splintering of heavy timbers, an ugly upward staggering that seemed to go on for ever, flinging them on their faces. There was a scream from the foc'sle head — a scream that started as a piercing cry of pain, and ended in a sickening, broken groan which even the wind could not entirely cover.

"She's aground, sir!"
The word was taken up by other voices. How long they persisted Letty did not know, for the seas were sweeping unchecked over the deck now, and it was all but impossible to struggle to her feet again. She leaned her body back and realized as she did so that her father was no longer there... that her mother was trying to cling desperately to the steep incline of the deck itself.

"Mother!" Letty cried, and forgetting all else, clawed her way along the deck behind her. Between her and her mother was the end of a broken spar, and Letty leaned the upper part of her body across it, reaching forward with every inch of her strength to lift her mother towards and over it. She touched her mother's cold, icy hand, then grasped an arm. She had almost succeeded in pulling the frail body up towards her, when another wave, bigger and more violent than the last, enveloped both of them, tearing the arm from Letty's grasp and leaving in her hands only the shawl and a cameo brooch which was pinned upon it.

As the water rose above her, rushed across and over her head, then receded into the screaming night, Letty found herself flung sharply against the corner of the deckhouse. It seemed that deeper and ever deeper water enfolded her now. And in the thickening dusk of it she was quite powerless. Suddenly she knew no more.

At a tall window in a large, sea-front house in Victoria, a young woman of 29 pushed back the heavy curtains and tried to look through the rain that was lashing the window panes to wards the straits.

She felt sure that what she had seen was a rocket. She had said so before, but her step-mother and Caroline had been too preoccupied to take any notice of her.

She jerked her spare body round from the window to look at them again, and her thin lips tightened with impatience. Mamma and Caroline were still gossiping about the newest fashions from London.

With the circle of soft lamp-light over their shoulders and the glow of the fire on the other side of them, they looked as beautiful and assured as ever. And nobody in the world would guess, thus observing them, that they were aware of the fact that a great ship might be in distress not far away from them, around the headland.

Papa could not have exhibited such indifference. Despite the storm, and the late hour, he was still closeted with His Excellency, and would be unable to leave. Yet a sense of growing, deepening urgency filled Amelia as she stood there.

No Grant To Boost Professors' Pay

Education Minister Straith said today he cannot promise a larger grant for U.B.C. this year to benefit underpaid professors.

The province has increased the university grant from $1,000,000 to $1,800,000 in the past five years, but what the situation will be this year will not be known until the budget has been set.

The province has no jurisdiction over what the university board of governors does with the grant. Mr. Straith will receive a delegation from the university faculty today in Vancouver.

SPCA Resents Mutilation Of Show Animals

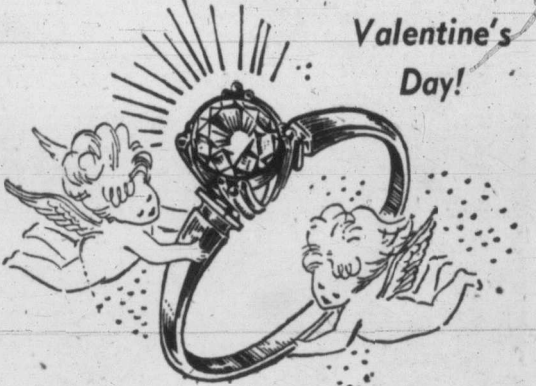

A motion urging the provincial government to pass legislation which would stop the mutilation of animals for show purposes was passed at the annual meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held at the Prince Robert House on Tuesday.

Members went on record as being against the practice of operating on animals in order to beautify their appearances for show purposes.

It was pointed out that in some cases ears of animals were trimmed to make them more presentable for a show.

The meeting also protested the practice in the United States of using dogs as guinea pigs.

Grunt, Groan And A Couple Of Ah-h-h's

Impressario Rocky Brooks and his beef trust initiated the Sirocco as a new salon de squirm before a capacity house last night. That the classy surroundings did nothing for the manners of the panting pachyderms is well illustrated by this shot of Maurice LaChapelle, top, and George Craig musing each other's hair. LaChap-elle won this imbroglio in two straight falls. In other events Pierre Labelle won a popular verdict over Mel Denton; Cowboy Ace Abbott threw Tor Yamato with a Texas twister, and Lionel Speller of Saanich got a draw with Tyke Myron in the preliminary.

VIEWS OF SPORT

By RED SMITH

NEW YORK—Happy Chandler was a visitor in New York Sunday, and in ordinary circumstances a guest should be greeted politely, if not enthusiastically. However, the kingfish came not as a tourist but rather as a politician running for office.

Smith

There used to be a fairly strong feeling that the position of baseball commissioner was an office of importance and dignity which should seek the man, and not a juicy apple to be tossed up for grabs among a pack of job-hunters. At least some old-fashioned guys who still cling to that notion have been sickened by Chandler's blatant, panicky scramble to regain his place at the baseball trough.

He begged, at a Boston dinner the other evening, for "fair play in the American tradition," and his lachrymose eloquence moved Eddie Collins, of the Red Sox, to forecast, "I'll say that he'll recover from any sneak punch or low blow he got recently."

Eddie was a wonderful second baseman, one of the greatest that ever lived, but his definition of a sneak punch suggests that he is no authority on either boxing or semantics.

Thus he had a year's warning, twelve months to shore up his political fences against an electorate of only sixteen voters. Then when the owners met and discovered that Chandler could swing only nine of the twelve votes required for re-election, a committee promptly waited upon him to advise him of the result.

He asked for another ballot, saying—according to some reports from the scene—that if he were rejected again he would resign. Perhaps some of the owners believed this, recalling the countless times when the kingfish had assured audiences that whenever baseball challenged his authority he would quit. So they took another ballot and told him he was still out.

Graduation Date Long Past

"I'll stick to the last second," said the most unresigned commissioner in baseball.

Next day the owners let him plead his own case before them. Then they voted unanimously to pick somebody else. Happy said he'd finish out his term but not seek a new one. Then he went out to start campaigning for a new one.

Sneak punch, Mr. Collins? How open and above-board can you get?

Chandler has been feeding at the baseball trough for almost six years now, time enough for even a backward scholar to make a start toward learning something about his job. The record of some of his answers under examination in the Danny Gardella lawsuit, published a few days ago in Dan Parker's column, show how he compares in this respect with the average fan:

No Charge For Tuition

"Question: Commissioner, have you any knowledge of the receipts of the major league ball clubs for the year 1947?"

"Answer: No."

"Q. Have you any knowledge of their receipts from radio and television?"

"A. No."

"Q. Do you know Larry Lajole batted .405 in 1905?"

"A. No, I didn't know. That was before my time."

"Q. Do you know that in 1915 and 1916 Grover Cleveland Alexander had the lowest earned-run record of any pitcher in the game?"

"A. No, I don't."

"Q. Well, you have in your office a copy of the result of the pennant races in the National League beginning with its organization in 1876?"

"A. If we have I haven't seen it."

Happy has, apparently, been attending a difficult school. He has not, however, been billed for tuition. On the contrary, when his sixth year is completed on May 1 he will have taken $315,000 out of baseball, plus expenses.

FILCHOCK JOINS ESKS AS BACKFIELD MENTOR

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos yesterday signed fling Frankie Filchock to a one-year contract as backfield coach as part of an all-out effort to capture the Grey Cup in 1951.

Filchock, Canada's "athlete of the year" in 1949, when he quarterbacked Montreal Alouettes to their Grey Cup triumph over Calgary Stampeders, is expected to succeed Annis Stukis as Eskimo coach in 1952.

Stukis, who will guide the club for the third straight campaign next fall, wants to return to his former sports writing job at Toronto. Filchock will be first in line for his job when he leaves.

Louis In Trim For Agramonte

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Joe Louis, as trim-looking as the fearsome Brown Bomber of a decade ago, is favored to knock out Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in an early round tonight and move a step closer to a return heavyweight title match with Ezzard Charles.

It is even money here the 36-year-old former world champion will stop the 190-pound Cuban in four rounds or less in their scheduled 10-round fight at Miami Stadium. The bout will not be broadcast or televised.

An attendance of 15,000 and gross gate of $50,000 was forecast by the promoters.

Louis was smiling, good-humored and perfectly relaxed as he talked to reporters yesterday. When he went out for his final limbering-up exercises, he dropped the smile and tackled his work in dead seriousness.

There didn't appear to be an ounce of superfluous weight on his waist, arms or legs.

Joe expects to enter the ring tonight weighing between 207 and 208 pounds. That's just what he weighed for the second fight with Billy Conn in 1948 and Joe says he's in the best shape since that time.

Could he beat Charles now? "Well," Joe replied, "I'll just say this much: Ezzard would have to be a better fighter than the first time I met him if he beat me now."

Gordon Head Lead Cut In Paddle Play

In Monday's play in the Victoria Table Tennis Association, Gordon Head had their lead cut to a single point and their winning streak finally halted at seven games.

Hollywood, led by Charlie Ngai with eight games and Ray Leason with six games, proved their undoing to the tune of 18 to 12.

In other games Slashers were forced to settle for a 15-all tie with the cellar dwellers, Capitais, and Aces moved up to fourth place by defeating Shawngans, 16 to 8.

Scores follow:
Slashers—A. Ngai 7, D. White 4, M. Schneider 4, J. Webb 0. Total 15.
Capitais—G. Ngai 7, D. Mason 6, D. Ellis 2, K. Oldfield 0. Total 15.

Slipping Canucks Near League Cellar

Ironmen Can Hurdle Murph's Squad Tonight

If Seattle can repeat their 4 to 1 victory over Vancouver Canucks on their home ice tonight, the men of Dotten will emerge from the deep gloom of the P.C.H.L. cellar for the first time in many months.

Last night's victory at Vancouver put Ironmen within one point of their humble objective—to climb on the shoulders of Murph Chamberlain's floundering Canucks.

The latest humiliation for the Vancouver squad was not brought about for lack of scoring chances. Hee Highton, back in the Canucks nets last night, stopped only 10 shots to Red McAttee's 30.

Pete Leswick got the only marker of the first two periods, scoring after two-and-a-half minutes of play. Joe Bell got two of Seattle's third-period tallies, with Wimpy Jones copping the other. Church Russell was lone Vancouver scorer.

ROCKETS COMING

On Friday, Tacoma will try to close the gap between second and third place when they take the ice against Cougars here. Muzz Patrick's men are currently seven points behind the Cougar pace.

Summary follows:

First Period—1, Seattle, Leswick (Nixon), 2-0. Penalties—Reardon, Thorpe.	Second Period—No scoring. Penalties—Taulier, McPherson.	Third Period—2, Seattle, Jones (Kerry), 1-0. 3, Seattle, Bell (Nixon), 1-0. 4, Vancouver, Russell (Ballance, Reardon), 1-0. 5, Seattle, Bell (Nixon), 1-0. Penalties—Bloom, Narduzzi, Nixon.

BELL TIES ULLYOT FOR SCORING LEAD

Eddie Dorohoy In Ninth Place; Rudy Filion Top Playmaker; Cotnoir Gains On Dechene

Scoring two goals as Seattle defeated Vancouver, 4 to 1, Joe Bell last night moved into a tie with New Westminster's Ken Ulliyot for the scoring leadership of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Bell's two markers gives him 38 goals for the season, the league high. He still has two games in hand over the Royal's ace.

Rudy Filion, Bell's teammate, picked up one assist to boost his lead in that department. He now has 38 assists, two more than New Westminster's Bobby Love.

COTNOIR GAINING

Lucien Dechene of the Royals continues to lead the goalkeepers with a 2.78 average, but Jerry Cotnoir of the Cougars is slowly closing the gap. Cotnoir's average is 2.97.

Norm Gustavsen of Tacoma Rockets is the league's bad man with 126 minutes in the cooler.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

It's getting so a guy can't make an honest $65,000 without asking for more, or failing that, another chance at the same jackpot. That's the predicament that A. B. "The not so happy" Chandler, commissioner of baseball, finds himself in at the moment. The major league owners don't want him, the fans don't want him (though Happy says otherwise) and Red Smith on the opposite page doesn't want him. Yet in defiance of these persons, Happy is currently engaged in what appears to be a futile nation-wide appeal for retention of his lucrative position.

Walker

Happy, now finds himself on a red-ink diet as he prepares for the coming season.

About Our Ball Team

His dwindling waistline truly represents the position of the Athletics financially. It will be remembered that it was just over six weeks ago that the A's opened their books to the public for the first time. The auditor's report showed a deficit in the neighborhood of $22,000. Something had to be done. That something was an appeal to the people of Victoria to rally behind the club and subscribe the sum of $25,000. That amount was needed to make the A's solvent and at the same time keep control of the club in the city.

The response has been poor. As a matter of fact, if the present trend (an average of $1,000 a week) continues, the A's will still be short of their goal by mid-April, date for the start of the W.I.L. season.

Somebody's Slip Is Showing

We're certain that Victoria wants its baseball team as truly Victorian, but we're also of the opinion that all has not been done that could be done in attempting to raise the bond issue. Perhaps the fault rests with the general public, but more than likely it lies with present shareholders of the Athletics, and yes, the directors, too, have been remiss in their duty in this regard.

There's an old saying that goes something like this: "You can drive a horse to water but you can't make him drink." Then there's another, perhaps not as famous: "You first have to drive the horse."

If the cap fits, wear it. But if it doesn't, and we're certain that it doesn't in all cases, Reg Patterson will be pleased to explain the situation to any prospective bond holder at his convenience.

Come to think of it, it would be rather a dull summer if we didn't have the A's to talk about.

Leafs Down Zurich For 16th Victory

ZURICH, Switzerland (CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs last night swamped the Zurich Ice Hockey Club 11 to 2 in a fast, cleanly-played game before a crowd of 7,500.

English Cricket Side In Bad Shape

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuter)—England with her three star batsmen out, her captain a doubtful starter because of a road smash, and still needing 389 runs to win, was in bad shape today at the end of the fifth day of the fourth cricket test against Australia.

Freddie Brown, who had five stitches in his knee after a car crash yesterday, said he intends to bat somehow tomorrow.

Australia also had a casualty today. Jack Iverson, their chief spin bowler, had an ankle injury and Sam Loxton substituted for him.

STAN MUSIAL WILL SIGN FOR $100,000

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP)—Stan Musial said Tuesday he expects "somewhere in the neighborhood" of $100,000 to swing his bat for St. Louis Cardinals this year.

The 1950 National League batting champion was coy about naming any specific figure which might embarrass his negotiations with Cardinal owner Fred Saigh. But asked about reports that he is demanding $100,000, Musial replied: "Well, somewhere in that neighborhood."

Only two players to get that much money for a single season are Joe DiMaggio of New York Yankees and Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox. Musial's salary last year called for $50,000 plus another $10,000 in bonuses.

Canadians' Show Now On Broadway

NEW YORK (CP) — The musical drama, "Jotham Valley," written by former Winnipegger Cecil Broadhurst, opened a two-week run on Broadway tonight.

The musical drama, which has been staged in the leading capitals of Europe with a cast including several Canadians, is presented by Moral Rearmament Incorporated, an organization sponsored by the Oxford Group.

Broadhurst, who made personal appearances in Canada in 1938, also wrote the lyrics and collaborated on the score.

Other Canadians in the play are Howard Reynolds, formerly of Ottawa, director; Jack Currie, formerly of Vancouver; Dick Stoler, formerly of Edmonton; Ron Roberts, Fort William, Ont.; Howard Boyd and Louis Flemming, Toronto, and Sumone Vuignier, Montreal.

Sharman Douglas Happy With $150-A-Week P.R. Position

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sharman Douglas has abandoned the international social whirl for a $150-a-week job in Hollywood.

Not long ago, Miss Douglas was the glamor girl of the United States Embassy in London, where her father, Lewis Douglas, was ambassador to Britain. Today she lives alone in an apartment near Hollywood and is intent on a career as a public relations counsellor for R.K.O. studios.

"Of course, I don't know whether I'll end up a career girl," she remarked. "That depends on how I like the job and how it likes me. But it certainly is interesting and I'm anxious to make a go of it."

Miss Douglas' official title is "liaison between the Gabriel Pas-

St. Luke's Players Present Evening Of 3 One-Act Plays

An evening of three one-act plays was the entertainment offered a large audience in St. Luke's Parish Hall, by members of the St. Luke's Players, Tuesday night.

The varied program was greatly enjoyed and while it was in the nature of "workshop," being open to the newer and less experienced actors in the group, it was productive of several performances that revealed more than ordinary talent.

Among these were Jean Reid playing a French girl in "Maid of France," and Margaret Carson, Rosemary Owen and Joan Walker in "Tudor Thorns." Jack Croft showed considerable imagination in his first directing assignment with the latter play and the Elizabethan costumes made a colorful contrast to the program.

"Tudor Thorns" concerns an incident in the lives of Elizabeth and Mary before either was queen of England. Others in the cast were: Molly Archbold, Myra Green, Brenda Gibson, Teddy Murray, Mary Cairns and Freda Gibson.

"Maid of France," a fantasy, taking place in the days of the First World War, was directed by H. M. Diggon and had in the cast: Jean Reid, Charles Martin, Glen Owen, Donald Mitchell and Katharine Cowan.

"Going Home," an amusing comedy directed by Evan Jones, was played by Ernest Evans, Hazel Wilson, Edna Lawrence, W. Batey, Tony Nicholson and May Brooker.

COUNTING PROFITS of perfectly planned hold-up in Dore Schary presentation, "Walk Softly, Stranger," is Joseph Cotton. Co-starred in thrilling drama is exotic Valli.

AUDIENCE ENCHANTED

Rise Stevens Achieves Triumph In Recital

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

It was prophesied at one time that radio, records and movies would do considerable harm to the live music of the concert stage. The reverse seems to be nearer the truth, however. Widely known through all three mediums, Rise Stevens drew 1,400 Victoria admirers to pack the Royal Theatre for her concert appearance Tuesday night.

Glorious as her mezzo-soprano voice is on records and radio, lovely as she is on the screen, the whole effect is enhanced by her physical presence. Reaching the ear directly, without mechanical conveyance, Miss Stevens' voice is revealed as richer, more velvety and even more extensive as to color range, than one had imagined.

She was an enchanting vision as she swept on to the stage in a green gown, misted with blue net. Her handling of it, her poise, gestures and whole manner bespoke a talented actress and a fascinating woman.

Here is a voice of splendid range, with no weak "middle," no change of texture as it passes from bell-like soprano to the deep purple of full contralto. There is at all times perfect freedom in production and a lively diction that keeps the words of any language tripping fluently from the tongue.

This vibrancy made the Mozart aria "Voi Che Sapete" (The Marriage of Figaro) one of her outstanding numbers. Her delightful German and the intensity with which she enters into the mood of her songs enriched her lieder group. No knowledge of the language was needed for a complete understanding of the joyous "Meine Liebe ist Grün" (Brahms) or the ineffably sad "Das Verlassene Magdlein" (Wolf).

Her English group included a song by her accompanist, Brooks Smith—a charming, breathless sea-lyric—and an arrangement of "The Ash Grove" by Benjamin Britten. She concluded with the Habanera, Seguidilla and Gypsy Song from "Carmen." These, and the "Samson and Delilah" aria, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," made it easy to believe that she is the outstanding operatic mezzo-soprano in this country.

Miss Stevens received the fullest and most artistic support from her accompanist, Mr. Smith showed himself a brilliant soloist in a piano group which included Brahms, Griffes and Dohnanyi.

Simplon Folk Seek Refuge In Church

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters)—The people of Simplon Village, on the famous mountain pass into Italy, have abandoned their homes and taken refuge in a church because of a new avalanche threat. They spent Tuesday night there praying. More than 12 feet of snow has fallen at Simplon in the last few days and masses of snow are slithering slowly downwards.

By ART STOTT

At that stage in our teens when a newspaper consisted of a sports section and other pages that didn't seem too important, we used to read about Nels Nelson. Nels was a ski jumper up at Revelstoke. Two or three times a week, as you did your winter reading, you'd see he was preparing for a world record jump, had just finished one, or was soaring away in practice.

A youngster got the impression that Nels spent most of his time in the air, returning to the ground long enough to go back to the top of the jump and start off again. People didn't talk about flying saucers in those days, but if anyone had noticed odd material flashing high in the air, somebody would have suggested it was Nels passing by on one of his better efforts.

Stott

A TEEN-AGER admired and envied Nels. He represented the best in a spectacular sport that few tried. On the infrequent occasions when snow stayed in Victoria, the youngsters would nail straps to barrel staves, lash them on their feet and try to take off from any hill that was handy. Their failures and the bumps just increased the stature of Nels Nelson.

It isn't quite that way today. A lot of people ski. A lot more are interested, and a new crop has come up to take Nels Nelson's place.

That brings the boys of the parks division of the B.C. Forest Service up against an interesting problem. They realize that outdoor recreational needs exist in winter as they do in summer. Parks are chiefly concerned with satisfying some of those needs. But until recent years, parks in winter had been, generally speaking, frozen assets.

WITH SKIING on the up-grade, there is a growing demand for winter use of parks by people who have graduated from the barrel stave class to some pretty fancy footboards and the accoutrements that go with them. Skiers want the best they can get in ski grounds and facilities. If money were no object, the parks branch could satisfy almost all their wishes. But money is something to be considered. The parks section has to make its plans in terms of prospective budgets. And it is under an obligation to provide the best recreational opportunities for all the people, all year around, from the funds at its disposal.

These are the points Don Macmurchie and his group of experts kept in the backs of their minds as they surveyed ski resorts of Washington, Oregon and Idaho last month.

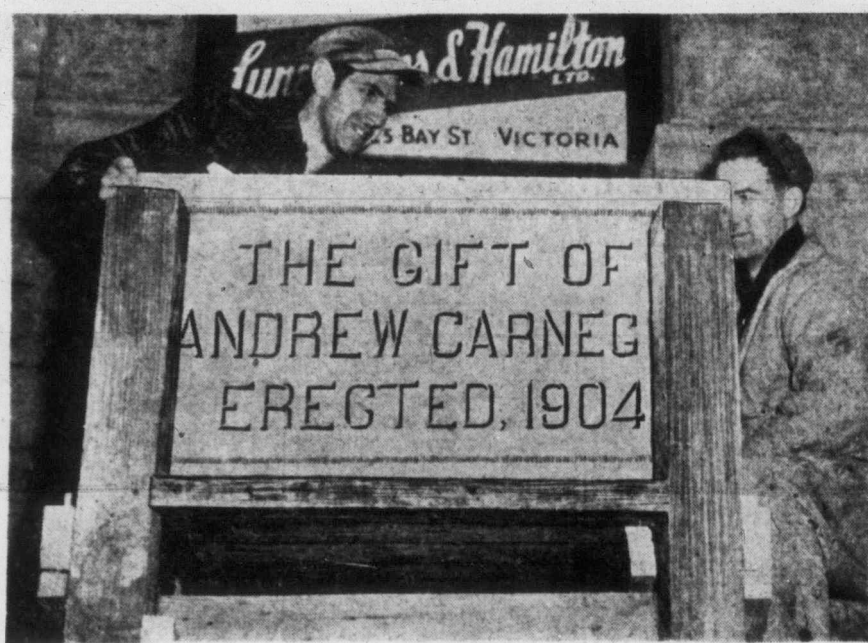

THEY TOOK in Mt. Baker, Snoqualmie Pass, Mt. Rainier, Mt. Hood, Santiam, Hoodoo Bowl, Bogus Basin, Sun Valley, Mt. Spokane and Stevens Pass. They saw some right attractive ski playgrounds. They heard the argument that the way to popularize ski resorts was to make them attractive to top-notchers—the current Nels Nelsons—and to develop ski-consciousness among the younger folk by the exploits of jumpers and experts.

It doesn't look as if they were convinced. So British Columbia's park skiing is going to be something a little more modest. It will, under current plans, provide adequate facilities for those who don't aspire to world records.

THE RECREATION group recognizes a responsibility to make skiing available to as many as possible in provincial parks. They're prepared to go as far as they can with the money at their disposal for skiing. But they'll not go overboard to the detriment of other park development—the kind that caters to swimmers, fishermen, picnickers and folk who just want to wander through the woods beside a river, or admire scenery. That type of park patron supplies a lot of the dollars needed for the branch's program. And that program has appeal for visitors when tourists are at summer flood.

The group brought back some interesting ideas, though. The ideas don't run to the steam-heated outdoor swimming pool that Sun Valley provides in a snow setting, but there should be some improvements on Mt. Seymour and in other spots where work will have both winter and summer recreational value.

There isn't much chance of them running out of ideas. If they do, there are a few hundred people in Victoria with some suggestions they're ready to make about Mt. Brenton.

Cornerstone Ceremony At Library To Mark Four-Story Addition

With proper but simple ceremony, the cornerstone of Victoria's Public Library was fitted into place this afternoon.

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace officiated.

Mr. Wallace used a silver trowel to tap the large sandstone slab that was pushed into place to fill a gaping space on the Blanshard Street side near the front of the building.

The stone is the same one removed from the rear of the building March 10 of last year when part of the old structure was removed to make room for the new, big addition.

The inscription on the stone perpetuates the memory of Andrew Carnegie whose gift of $50,000 in 1902 made the first library possible.

$350,000 ADDITION

It is of interest that while the original building was built for $50,000, the new four-story addition is costing Victorians $350,000.

This afternoon's cornerstone ceremony was witnessed by many civic officials and invited business and professional people. Mrs. M. E. Godson, chairman of the Victoria Public Library Board, spoke briefly of the long need for added library facilities here. Dean G. R. Calvert, from Christ Church Cathedral, was present to dedicate the stone.

C. Dexter Stockhill, representing architects of the new construction, presented Mr. Wallace with the special trowel for the actual stone laying.

FIRST LAID IN 1904

The stone, first laid in October, 1904, by William Northcott, then city building inspector, was 50 pounds lighter today than what it was originally.

The slab had a back corner cut from it this week to allow space for sealing into the building a metal box of mementoes. The corner cut away reduced weight of the stone from 750 to 700 pounds.

The box contains copies of library by-laws, passed in 1902 and 1949; lists of City Council members in both years. City of Victoria reports for 1903 and 1949, copies of the Victoria Daily Times and Daily Colonist, Canadian coins, and signatures of architects, builders and library staff members.

British Auto Prices Boosted

Victoria representatives of Vauxhall and Austin, British automobile makers who have just announced price boosts from London, said today they have not had any notification of the increases.

The Associated Press in a London story, said the two firms announced the boosts as resulting from an increase in basic material costs.

Austin price increases ranged from $28 to $100 on all its vehicles. Vauxhall raised prices on its two models of small passenger cars $20. Vauxhall also cut production to four days a week starting Monday.

CABINET TALKS ON LEGISLATION

First special meeting of the provincial cabinet to discuss matters coming before the Legislature at its session starting Feb. 20 was called for today by Premier Byron Johnson.

Detailed planning for the session has been delayed by the Premier's absence from his office, caused by his injury in a Quebec highway accident last September.

It will be the first aldermanic by-election in over 20 years that has been held apart from the regular December civic elections. M. Frank Hunter, city returning officer said.

On the basis of former by-law by-elections throughout the year, the vote is not expected to be over 3,000, although eligible voters number 18,893.

The candidates are: Maxwell K. Crockett former city lands commissioner; R. P. Macmillan, R.C.A.F. veteran; Harold M. Diggon, former alderman; J. A. McLellan, former police commissioner, and William H. Williams, transfer firm operator.

Although five are contesting one vacancy compared to the six running for five vacancies at the Dec. 14 civic election, there has been no campaigning.

Mr. Hunter expects to have results of the vote, half an hour after the polls close Thursday.

He warned that candidates must refrain from using posters on vehicles the day of polling and urged that they do not give written material to people which might be taken into the polling booths.

VOTING TOMORROW

Five Candidates For City Council Seat

Victorians will go to 10 polling booths in the public market building Thursday from 9 in the morning until 7 at night to elect one candidate from a field of five.

Victoria May Join Union Health Board

Belief that the city would be approached by Saanich with regard to entering into the union board of health was expressed by Ald. Waldo Skillings today. The matter had been discussed in Saanich he said. Ald. Margaret Christie said she felt the move would be "a fine thing."

PISTOL STOLEN

Police reported today that a .22 calibre target pistol was stolen from T. Wherry's taxidermist store at 629 Pandora Avenue, which was broken into during the night.

CARS DAMAGED

Medium damage was done to cars driven by Bernard R. Kehn, 152 Menzies Street, and Jack Huddleston, 318 Cook Street, collided in the city Tuesday afternoon, police said.

Build Last Unit Of Hart Power Project

Expect Cariboo Development Plan At Legislature Session As Well

All signs point to one of the biggest years yet for the B.C. Power Commission in 1951 with two major jobs predicted:

1. A start on the final phase of the John Hart hydro development at Campbell River, bringing the 112,000 horse power plant to its full capacity of 172,000 horse power; and

2. Construction of the first unit of a large electrical generating plant, on the north fork of the Quesnel River in the Cariboo.

BETTY MACDONALD

$1,000,000 Suit Based On 'Egg And I'

SEATTLE (AP) — A million dollar law suit against author Betty Macdonald and four other defendants brought a legal rendition of portions of the laugh-provoking "The Egg and I" in Superior Court Tuesday.

Nine members of the Albert Bishop family of Jefferson County are suing Mrs. Macdonald, her husband, and three business firms handling the book for "humiliation and shame by being identified as characters" in the best-selling novel.

Each seek $100,000. They claim uncomfortable similarities between themselves and "The Kettles," characters in the book. Two members of the Bishop family testified after their Attorney George Crandall read passages aloud.

(Author Macdonald was a frequent visitor to Victoria and in her book directed her two leading characters to the Empress Hotel for their honeymoon.)

NO CONFIRMATION HERE OF FLU EPIDEMIC IN PRINCETON AREA

Provincial health department officials here said today no confirmation has been received that a serious outbreak of influenza has hit Princeton.

Reports from the interior city said at least one-quarter of the high school students there were absent from classrooms and many of the citizens were fighting 'flu.

Health officials said they were awaiting confirmation of the report from the district medical officer at Princeton.

Meanwhile in other parts of the province there were few cases reported. In fact, said an official, there are fewer cases this year than last.

NO RADIATION FEARS

Everything Right As Rain, Experts Claim

Don't bother rushing downtown in the morning to shop for that snappy new atomic radiation protective raincoat.

All the talk of snow and rain carrying the curse of a split atom since the Las Vegas bomb explosion experiments isn't causing concern among men in the "know how."

The comment "so what" seems to sum up their reaction to the reports being received that geiger counters, beta ray scintillation meters and such-like are recording radiation in the elements.

Provincial government scientists are inclined to agree that if some one had thought to make these tests long before the first atomic bomb was dropped that they would have got the same results.

Examination made of Vancouver snow at U.B.C., and of Olympia rain by the Washington State government geologist showing radiation reactions, are of minor scientific interest only, they say.

The Vancouver report quoted Dr. Gordon Shrum, head of the university department, as saying a weak count was obtained from snow which fell on the mainland city Tuesday.

And an Olympia report attributed to State Geologist Sheldon Glover says "a nice reaction" was obtained from rain which fell there Tuesday.

The government scientists here explain there is cosmic ray exposure all of the time which might account for the radiation reactions obtained. They've got a few other theories, too, which would churn the brain of the layman unnecessarily if put into print.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

In Love With A Girl Known Six Months, Boy, 21, Cannot Understand Why She Won't Go Steady

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a college student, 21, with two years to go before I finish law school. My problem centres on a girl, 19, whom I shall call Deb. I have known Deb for about six months and in this time her parents have shown great understanding in all respects, and have always accepted our explanations for getting in late, etc.

I love Deb and she professes to return my love; but much as I would like to get serious about her, I cannot consider matrimony at this time, due to the educational situation. And Deb refuses to go steady with me, and I know for a fact that she hasn't told her parents of her love for me. Much of my information about Deb comes from a lifelong friend of her's. And I gather that Deb's mother has always harped on the Mary Haworth theme of a girl's not going steady with a boy; of not getting serious; of being free and having a lot of fun while young.

I believe you will agree with me that "going steady" is a natural and wholesome emotional outlet. And I think Deb's negative attitudes, of not desiring to go steady, and not confiding in her parents, poses a particular problem. I know that mothers are never displeased about their daughters' failing in love with a well-bred, well-educated boy (like myself). Deb's mother has always been extremely nice to me, even inviting me to dinner twice. But much as I am liked by all concerned, and supposedly loved by Deb, she will not go steady with me; nor will she confide in her mother.

What I sincerely want is to eliminate the barrier in Deb's thinking; for I feel that any person who cannot confide in his (or her) parents is a person whose whole outlook is warped. And this condition should be put right before more damage is done. Deb hasn't been really or deeply hurt by any previous love affairs. I hope you can see the difficulty clearly and suggest a remedy. Yours for a better understanding.—P. N.

GIRL LOOKS AHEAD; BOY COMBATS THAT

Dear P. N.: Trying to glimpse Deb's attitudes through your eyes, one becomes aware that you are completely baffled by the mystery of her personality—as it seems to you. But mulling things over, it occurs to me that the barrier to understanding, which bothers you, issues from a natural simple difference in viewpoints. Womanlike, Deb is thoughtfully looking ahead, as regards the aims and long-range potentials (if any) of the relationship, whereas manlike you are primarily interested in, and campaigning for, a self-serving sweetheart alliance, here and now. Most males bring that slant to romance, until some female adroitly instigates a more serious reaction.

You declare a belief that "going steady is a natural and wholesome emotional outlet." It may be a natural inclination, a course of least resistance, in dealing with mutual attraction

TODAY'S RECIPE

VALENTINE SUGAR-COATED CAKE

Measure into mixing bowl: 2½ cups sifted cake flour, 1½ cups sugar, 2-3 cup crisco, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup milk.

Blend thoroughly by hand or mixer (medium speed) for two minutes. Add: 3½ teaspoons double acting baking powder. Add: ½ cup milk, 3 whole eggs, 1 teaspoon flavoring.

Blend thoroughly by hand or mixer (medium speed) for two minutes. Pour into two deep nine-inch layer pans (1½" deep) which have been rubbed with crisco or lined with heavy waxed paper. (If smaller pans are used, fill half full and bake remaining batter in cup cake pans.) Bake in moderate oven (370 deg. F.) for 35 to 40 minutes.

When cool, ice with creamy icing: 2 tablespoons water, ¼½ tablespoons granulated sugar, 2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup crisco, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Boil water and granulated sugar together a few minutes. Mix confectioners' sugar and egg. Blend with syrup. Add crisco and vanilla. Beat until creamy.

With a Valentine cookie cutter mark Valentine shapes around the cake. Then with the cutter in position sprinkle a layer of red sugar inside the cutter. Remove to next heart outline and proceed in the same way until all outlines are red sugar coated. If cutter is closed on top, sprinkle carefully inside the heart outline with spoon or small paper cone.

when marriage isn't in the cards. But I cannot agree that it is wholesome if it means nothing more than a day-to-day indulgence of mutual possessiveness, without a permanent sacrosanct partnership clearly in mind. I believe steady dating is apt to be unwholesome except as a short-term prelude to marriage already agreed upon. Pursued indefinitely as an end in itself, it leads to sexual license, or frustration and quarrels, or a mixture of all these ill effects.

GIRL SEEMS ABLE TO COPE WITH LIFE

Very likely it is Deb's love of you that bids her be prudent. If she cared only casually, or valued your allegiance less, she might take more of your company, lightly. But she probably senses that a system of social reserve, in dealing with your selfish uncertainty, is a necessary armor against the dangers of promiscuity, at this stage in your amative development; and also the best means of keeping your courtier interest alive, until you've matured to marrying bias. At this time, it isn't economic unreadiness, so much as it is psychological aversion to responsibilities, that makes you a courtier, rather than a suitor, in her life.

Now, a word about youngsters confiding in parents. Up to a point, this is good. But during adolescence, it is healthy evidence of progressive maturity, for a son or daughter to "clam up" on the parents and find other—but equally worthy—confidantes. This is an essential step in the weaning process. Without it, the boy or girl never really "comes into his own," but remains weakly (too weakly) susceptible to leading strings, in adult years. As Deb shows a mind of her own in relation to you, I fancy her reticence at home is an offshoot of growth, not the defect you suppose. For a better understanding, drop your attitude of mental patronage, and respect her individuality.—M. H.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

What's Your Age? Eh . . . Uh . . . Er; Better Off If You Don't Know

I do not know why women are so conscious of age. I know that people often think I am putting on an act when they ask me how old I am, which they seldom do. I have to stop and think a minute before I know.

Perhaps you are 40, that so-called fatal age when everything changes. I should be an expert on good taste when it comes to clothes, food, conversation, and real values. Her horizons should be broader than her hips and her sense of humor delightful because it will be enriched by experience and kindness and the art of the light touch. And women should be tender. A woman who lacks tenderness does not seem to be a real woman.

So, if you have become embittered by the blows of fate and find yourself fighting for your rights rather than loving someone, stop it and tap the real deep adventure which living provides at midlife. You are no longer inexperienced and callow. You should be an artist in living and in love.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 33, "Woman of Fifty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

What does it matter how old you are—get out and have fun!

is supposed to change, or maybe you are 50. So what? What does it matter how old you are.

The important thing is how happy you are, how much fun you are having out of life, how good-looking you are, how well. I sincerely believe that about half of aging is thinking yourself into it. The psychologists and doctors do not yet know what magic powers feeling youthful and forgetting age may have over actual physical aging.

Although the middle-aged woman in our country seems to me to be one of the most attractive ones in the world, she has so felt the pressure of remaining youthful in appearance that she may have forgotten some of those simple traits which charm at any age. Any woman who has lived in awareness, and observed acutely must be more tolerant and kinder as she grows older. This does not come from the deterioration of age but from more understanding and wisdom.

Her horizons should be broader than her hips and her sense of humor delightful because it will be enriched by experience and kindness and the art of the light touch. And women should be tender. A woman who lacks tenderness does not seem to be a real woman.

So, if you have become embittered by the blows of fate and find yourself fighting for your rights rather than loving someone, stop it and tap the real deep adventure which living provides at midlife. You are no longer inexperienced and callow. You should be an artist in living and in love.

is supposed to change, or maybe you are 50. So what? What does it matter how old you are.

The important thing is how happy you are, how much fun you are having out of life, how good-looking you are, how well. I sincerely believe that about half of aging is thinking yourself into it. The psychologists and doctors do not yet know what magic powers feeling youthful and forgetting age may have over actual physical aging.

Although the middle-aged woman in our country seems to me to be one of the most attractive ones in the world, she has so felt the pressure of remaining youthful in appearance that she may have forgotten some of those simple traits which charm at any age. Any woman who has lived in awareness, and observed acutely must be more tolerant and kinder as she grows older. This does not come from the deterioration of age but from more understanding and wisdom.

She should be an expert on good taste when it comes to clothes, food, conversation, and real values. All women may participate in this service of prayer.

Canadian women of various church affiliations first united in a dominion-wide observance of the Day of Prayer in 1920, to pray for missions. In 1922 they joined with the women of the United States, and by 1927 the World Day of Prayer was universally established.

Each year the impetus has grown until in 1950 90 countries observed the day of prayer.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Perhaps your child has just had a long illness, during which time you were wrung with anxiety and eager to do everything in your power to make life pleasant for him.

To this end you have sacrificed your own recreation and have catered to his every desire. Nothing was too much to do, you were so happy that he was on the road to health.

But the road back can be unnecessarily long, unless you are wise enough to taper off your attentions to the child as he no longer needs them. For even if he doesn't need them he will certainly want them, as there are few positions so glamorous as that of an invalid well enough to enjoy life but reluctant to part with his invalid's privileges.

If the child is to be well in body, he must grow well in spirit, and one of the responsibilities of health is to be independent and to willingly forego the favors, rewards and slave-like service of the loving parent. It will be hard, at first, for the parent to deny the child all of her time. But she does this for his own sake. "Yes, darling," she must say, "I'll play with you a while after 11 o'clock. Up until then I shall be busy getting the house straightened up and the dishes washed and put away. Here is a nice game and some colors you can play with until then. Watch the clock it will soon be 11."

Perhaps another morning it may be 11.15 or 11.30 before the mother gets around to reading to or playing with him. She should make the time definite and keep her promise but gradually free him from his abject dependence upon her presence or her inspiration for play.

Our leaflet No. 17, "The Convalescent Child," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

I think I have already reminded my readers of the old stock market saying: "Sometimes the bears win, and sometimes the bulls win; but the hogs never win." The same thing is true in bridge. Sometimes it is right to be optimistic, and sometimes it is right to be pessimistic. However, it never pays to be a pig.

In the hand shown today, South ran afoul of this principle and wound up nursing his wounds.

West opened the ten of hearts, and South greedily played low in dummy, hoping to win three heart tricks. Unfortunately for South, East happened to have the king of hearts.

East won the first trick with that card and promptly shifted to a low diamond. West took the ace of diamonds and returned the suit, knocking out South's only diamond stopper.

South entered dummy with a heart to take the club finesse. He felt very unhappy when West won with the king of clubs and led another diamond. The defenders thus took four diamonds, a heart, and a club, setting the contract two tricks.

South should have made his contract by putting up the ace of hearts at the first trick. The club finesse is then taken, and nine tricks are cold even though the club finesse loses. South is sure of five clubs, two spades, and the ace of hearts.

If the opponents hammer away at either red suit, they must establish South's ninth trick. If they switch to spades (or clubs), South has time to set up his ninth trick for himself.

A—Bid two no-trumps. You have all of the unbid suits well stopped and enough high-card strength to qualify for a sound opening bid. This is the general requirement for a response of two no-trump.

Burgess Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Blacky the Crow brought bad news to Flaptoes the Grebe. Flaptoes was down on the ice of the big river. He was near a small open place not much bigger than a good-sized puddle. He had flown so far that he was tired. His stout, fast-moving wings had refused to carry him any farther. Like an airplane short of gas, he had come down.

This was bad enough, but to make it worse Blacky the Crow had just brought him bad news. Some people seem to like to be carriers of bad news. They are queer about that. Blacky was excited. He had a feeling that he was going to be more excited. He had discovered Reddy Fox just leaving the old Pasture, and he was sure that Reddy would soon be over to the big river, because he knew that Reddy almost every day visited certain places along the big river in search of breakfast and dinner.

Now curious as it may seem, a bearer of bad news may sometimes be doing others a great favor, and for that reason is welcome. Blacky was doing just this now. He was warning Flaptoes so that he might try to escape. What Blacky didn't really sense was that Flaptoes was almost completely helpless. Blacky is so used to rising in the air from wherever he may be, whenever he wants to, that he somehow couldn't think that there might be others with wings who could not do it.

Flaptoes began to flop. He couldn't fly, he couldn't run, he couldn't walk. All he could do was flop.

"Is he very near?" asked Flaptoes as he tried to flop along. "I don't see him yet," replied Blacky. "But I'm sure he'll come. What are you flopping about like that for?"

"I'm trying to get to the water," panted Flaptoes. "If I can get to the water I'll be safe." He continued to flop.

"I see him now," cried Blacky, "and he's coming this way. You better hurry."

GREBE FRIGHTENED

"I am hurrying," panted the frightened Grebe.

"Do you call that hurrying? You are not getting anywhere," cried Blacky.

"I'm doing the best I can," replied Flaptoes.

"Why don't you get up and walk?" demanded Blacky.

"How could anyone walk with legs like mine?" cried Flaptoes. Blacky had to admit that as legs they were not much. Those legs and feet were meant for swimming, not for walking. They were way at the end of the body of Flaptoes. Instead of having webs joining the toes as ducks do, his feet had small flaps of skin along the sides of the toes. They were just as good swimming feet as if they had been fully webbed.

Flop, flop, flop went Flaptoes, beating his wings against the ice. "Hurry," cried Blacky. "I think Reddy sees you now. He is beginning to run. Hurry!"

Blacky was so excited that he couldn't keep still. He flew a little way up in the air where he could watch all the time. Reddy was coming fast now. He could see Flaptoes and he felt sure that this time he was going to have a good dinner. Would Flaptoes be able to reach that water?

"Hurry! Hurry!" screamed Blacky.

Can't Trust Germany, Alleges Woman Speaker At Club Lunch

Germany is not to be trusted in case of war, Mrs. Paul L. Blasley, a veteran of the German occupation of France, said Tuesday at luncheon with the Victoria Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel.

"Why should we trust the Germans?" she said. "They hate the Allies. They do not want war. They feel that in case of war they have nothing to gain and everything to lose."

"What I have seen makes me afraid of the future, not only where Germany is concerned but all the rest of the world," Mrs. Blasley said.

She said that American lack of understanding of German psychology had contributed to failure of the U.S. education program, and the advance of Communism.

"After the war the Germans looked to the Americans for an ideal. Instead they were given 'cokes' and baseball," Mrs. Blasley said. "The Russians said, in effect, 'we can't give you material things, but we can give you an ideal'."

Control Lights For Fire Runs

A system of electronic control for police and fire department vehicles going through traffic lights on call will be given a try, following approval of the transportation committee today for an initial expenditure of $150.

R. N. Doble, the city's radio engineer, outlined a plan whereby cars would be equipped with radio transmitters and a receiver put in the traffic signal. He will make one test set.

THIEF TRICKS BLIND NEWSIE

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Here is the latest and meanest gouge in petty larceny. A man pitched a coin on the floor of blind Catherine Phillips' newsstand the other day, exclaiming, "Oh, I dropped a nickel." As she knelt to search for it with her hands, he snatched her change box and ran.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY WHIPS CONSERVATIVES

Vote Is 308 To 298 On Bitter Steel Issue

LONDON (Reuter)—The Labor Government tonight won a life-and-death vote in the House of Commons, beating down a last-ditch effort by Winston Churchill's Conservatives to halt nationalization of Britain's iron and steel industries. The vote was 308 to 298.

Prior to the vote Churchill blustered the Laborite program to nationalize steel as a "crazy deed" which would gravely harm the country's rearmament.

The Conservative leader said he would wage war on the Labor Government until his party forced its downfall and new elections. But tonight's victory for Labor was its fourth on the bitterly-contested steel issue.

Reds Flee As Allies Drive On

TOKYO (AP)—Allied ground forces smashed forward today with three powerful tank columns to the last hills guarding the plains of shattered Seoul. American infantrymen drove Reds from a hill three miles west of Anyang. Forty Reds were bayoneted and another 50 shot in the back as they fled.

The Chinese and Korean Reds were digging in for a new stand on the ridges just south of Seoul. At their backs was the Han River, still an uncovered way of retreat for the Reds but now on the verge of thawing.

On the central front, United Nations forces with South Koreans in the lead pushed northward toward the old Parallel 38 border.

On the east coast, South Korean forces secured high ground three miles east and west and five miles south of Kangnung, a coastal road town 17 miles south of 38. Allied naval power blasted the Reds in Kangnung itself.

War Crisis At A Glance

KOREA—Three strong U.N. tank columns smashed to the last hills guarding Seoul. Chinese and Korean Reds dug in for a new stand just south of Seoul. U.N. forces with South Koreans in lead pushed north on central front toward 38th Parallel. South Korean forces on east coast secured high ground south of Kangnung, coastal road town 17 miles south of parallel.

Training of Canadian troops in southern Korea is practically finished, said Lt. Col. J. R. Stone, commanding the Princess Pats.

LAKE SUCCESS—Anti-Red countries in U.N. political committee overwhelmingly voted down Russian-sponsored aggression charges against the U.S. The five Soviet bloc countries supported the charge.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson has officially declined to serve on the three-man U.N. good-offices committee to seek a peaceful settlement with Red China. It was reported.

WASHINGTON—State Secretary Acheson accused the Iron Curtain countries—Russia's satellites—"of building up great armies in excess of peace-treaty limitations. He said this is one of the major causes of world tension."

The Atlantic Treaty powers have virtually completed plans for setting up a unified sea force, such as the combined land and air forces on the continent, with an American admiral—possibly Admiral William M. Fechteler, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet—as top commander.

OTTAWA—Canada's wartime air minister—Hon. C. G. Power—told the Commons he favors the government's proposal to boost this nation's aerial strength.

B.C. May Act On Rents

New Attitude Is Revealed

Pressure was reported growing late today for Provincial action here to impose rent controls, when the Federal government abandons such controls on April 30.

The possible change-of-heart move came as Manitoba became the fifth Canadian province to decide to control rents if the government gives up the reins.

Earlier it was indicated the British Columbia government would not take control action.

Ontario, Saskatchewan, Quebec and Alberta are the other four provinces taking up the question.

Pressure on the B.C. government to step in comes from many different organizations. Resolutions are being received by members of the Legislature for action at the coming session.

Seek Slayer In Kyuquot Area

R.C.M.P. officers aided by Indians were scouring the rough country surrounding a village on remote Kyuquot Sound, on the north island's west coast, seeking a murderer.

The man is reported to have taken to the woods after shooting an Indian believed to be Lewis Oscar, resident of the village, on Tuesday.

R.C.M.P. headquarters received this word today by radio from the force's plane which took a sergeant from Comox to the alleged murder scene this morning.

An officer was flown in from Zebulos by a Port Alberni Airways craft late yesterday afternoon.

Reports on the case to headquarters are meagre.

The sound is about 200 land miles from Victoria.

Five Killed In Explosion

ST. PAUL LERMITTE, Que. (CP)—The explosion of a shell at the Canadian Arsenal plant here killed five workers today.

It was understood the men were handling the shell when it went off.

The explosion could be heard throughout this sprawling community just east of Montreal Island, 15 miles from Montreal city proper.

It was understood the shell was one of large calibre.

The dead workers were said to have almost completed their job on the shell when it exploded.

The men were killed instantly.

City Financial Set-Up 'Enviably'—Skillings

The appeal for "amalgamation" will never again emanate from Victoria if Ald. Waldo Skillings has his way.

One of the most comprehensive and sweeping statements of the city's capital asset valuations ever compiled was presented by G. Fitzpatrick Dunn, chartered accountant, at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Amalgamation Research Committee today.

It revealed that the city's surplus assets are $11,054,057 over and above the net debt of $12,854,000. At Dec. 31, 1949, capital assets totaled $23,908,057.

Far from being a "debt-ridden" area sinking in a morass of financial problems—the picture painted mostly in red ink by some municipalities when the word amalgamation was mentioned—Victoria was revealed in "a most enviable position," Ald Skillings said.

The research committee agreed with him and will recommend to City Council Tuesday that it take no further steps toward amalgamation, unless initiated by the other municipalities.

Mayor Percy George said he felt the estimate of the city's assets was most conservative and it could have been placed at $30,000,000, but agreed with Ald Skillings that the committee "wanted a factual report on the conservative side."

"We incurred our debt when the dollar was really worth a dollar," said Ald Skillings.

LONDON (Reuter)—Gillingham Town defeated Exeter City 2 to 1 in an English League Third Division South soccer game today.

The new pact continues to make DiMaggio one of the highest paid players in the history of the game.

LONDON (Reuter)—Welsh Universities defeated English Universities 6 to 3 and United Services Portsmouth defeated Royal Naval College Greenwich 11 to 3 in Rugby Union matches today.

Japanese Miners Strike

TOKYO (AP)—A strike of 135,000 miners demanding wage increases shut down Japan's four major coal mining companies today.

Douks Blamed In Prison Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The prison warden today blamed "rampaging Doukhobors" for a $20,000 fire in a compound at the federal penitentiary here.

The fire which followed an explosion early Tuesday night swept a one-story administration building, housing an office and hospital ward.

Train Toll Rises

82 Now Dead In N.J. Crash

WOODBIDGE, N.J. (AP)—Authorities said today that a crowded commuter Pennsylvania train was travelling twice its authorized speed when it roared off the rails here Tuesday night, killing 82 persons.

Approximately 500 others were injured in the death-dealing wreck, worst in the United States in more than a quarter century.

Middlesex County assistant prosecutor Alex Aber, conducting one of half a dozen investigations, said the train was highballing at 50 miles an hour when it plunged off a newly-built trestle.

He said the train's engineer, Joseph Fitzsimmons, interviewed in his hospital bed, admitted he was travelling this speed, although the railroad had ordered a 25-mile-an-hour limit over the trestle section.

Fitzsimmons was quoted as saying he had slowed down from 60 miles an hour, but had not further retarded his speed because he found no caution signal.

The rush-hour crack-up was the worst in the United States since 1918 when 115 were killed in a Nashville, Tenn., wreck, and more disastrous than the 1943 accident outside Philadelphia which took 80 lives.
